 Yes

Please specify:

Resolution 480-2008, dated March 6, 2008, issued by the Supreme Court of Justice that establishes the Procedure to hear the request for restitution of a minor illegally transferred to the Dominican Republic; indicating that the 1980 Hague Convention on the Civil Aspects of International Child Abduction is intended to guarantee the restitution of minors transferred to any State Party or illegally retained in it, as well as to ensure that the custody and visitation rights in force in one of the States are respected in the other States Parties. Currently there is no internal rule or law that regulates the application of the 1996 Hague Convention in the Dominican Republic, we carry out its application using the good practices that we have observed in other countries and with the procedures indicated for the protection of people. minors in our Law 136-03 that establishes the Child Protection Code.

2. Please provide the three most significant decisions concerning the interpretation and application of the 1996 Convention recently rendered by the relevant authorities³ in your State.

3. Please provide a brief summary of any other significant developments in your State relating to international child protection, including any regional instruments or bilateral agreements that have been negotiated or which your State has signed and ratified or acceded to (e.g., Memorandum of Understanding on the placement of children abroad):

Until now we have not had experience of cases that have been presented before the Courts or courts in the Dominican Republic for the application of the 1996 Hague Convention, all the cases that we have received or requested regarding this agreement are previously known. administratively by the Dominican Central Authority, without the need to authorize the judicial actors in the processes.

The cases that we have known of applying the La Hay Convention of 1966 have been very few, and thanks to the good collaboration with the Central Authorities of the other State we have been able to obtain the best solution in those cases, basically with the exchange of social studies. and other investigations with the objective of placing the children with their other relatives abroad, or to reunite families in our country.

2. Scope of application (Arts 2, 3 and 4, and C&R No 29 of 2017 SC)

- Yes

Please specify:

Our internal legislation on the protection of minors also establishes the age of 18 to constitute a minority, from that age people are considered adults. The 1996 Hague Convention has basically served to guarantee the rights to reunification of minors with their families residing in a place other than their habitual residence. We work on matters that are excluded from the scope of application of this agreement using other means and agreements drawn up by the Hague Conference on Private International Law that the Dominican Republic has ratified.
