CS NOTIFICATION DE 1965, PREUVES DE 1970 ET ACCÈS À LA JUSTICE DE 1980

JUILLET 2024

DOC. PRÉL. NO 15

Titre	Rapport des Groupes de travail sur les Manuels pratiques Notification et Preuves
Document	Doc. prél. No 15 de juin 2024
Auteur	BP
Point de l'ordre du jour	VIII
Mandat(s)	C&D No 47 de la CS de 2024
Objectif	Rendre compte de l'avancement des travaux des Groupes de travail chargés d'examiner et d'affiner l'actualisation des Manuels pratiques Notification et Preuves
Mesure à prendre	Pour décision ⊠ Pour approbation □ Pour discussion ⊠ Pour action / achèvement □ Pour information ⊠
Annexes	Annexe I – Ordre du jour de la réunion du Groupe de travail sur le Manuel pratique Notification (disponible en anglais uniquement) Annexe II – Tableau des commentaires en vue de la discussion du Groupe de travail sur le Manuel pratique Notification (disponible en anglais uniquement) Annexe III – Ordre du jour de la réunion du Groupe de travail sur le Manuel pratique Preuves (disponible en anglais uniquement) Annexe IV – Tableau des commentaires en vue de la discussion du Groupe de travail sur le Manuel pratique Preuves (disponible en anglais uniquement)

CS NOTIFICATION DE 1965, PREUVES DE 1970 ET ACCÈS À LA JUSTICE DE 1980

JUILLET 2024

DOC. PRÉL. NO 15

Document(s) connexe(s)

Doc prél No 7 de mai 2024 – Version révisée du Manuel pratique sur le fonctionnement de la Convention Notification Doc prél No 8 de mai 2024 – Version révisée du Manuel pratique sur le fonctionnement de la Convention Preuves

Table des matières

l.	Introduction	. 1
II.	Prochaines étapes	. 2
	Proposition soumise à la CS
Anne	xe I : Ordre du jour de la réunion du Groupe de travail sur le Manuel pratique Notification	. 4
Anne	xe II : Tableau des commentaires en vue de la discussion du Groupe de travail sur le Manuel pratique Notification	. 5
Anne	xe III : Ordre du jour de la réunion du Groupe de travail sur le Manuel pratique Preuves
Anne	xe IV : Tableau des commentaires en vue de la discussion du Groupe de travail sur le Manuel pratique Preuves	. 7
	p. 6.5466 . 106.00

Rapport des Groupes de travail sur les Manuels pratiques Notification et Preuves

I. Introduction

- Lors de sa réunion de 2024, le Conseil sur les affaires générales et la politique (CAGP) a approuvé la création de deux Groupes de travail composés de représentants de diverses régions du monde chargés d'examiner et d'affiner l'actualisation du Manuel pratique relatif à la Convention du 15 novembre 1965 relative à la signification et à la notification à l'étranger des actes judiciaires et extrajudiciaires en matière civile ou commerciale (Convention Notification et Manuel Notification) et du Manuel pratique relatif à la Convention du 18 mars 1970 sur l'obtention des preuves à l'étranger en matière civile ou commerciale (Convention Preuves et Manuel Preuves)1.
- Le Groupe de travail Notification a tenu sa première réunion en ligne le 17 mai 2024 afin de discuter du projet révisé du Manuel. Cette réunion a rassemblé 41 délégués représentant 25 Membres de la HCCH², offrant ainsi un cadre propice à des échanges riches et diversifiés, impliquant des participants issus de différentes juridictions et traditions juridiques. La proposition du BP de nommer M. David Cook, du Royaume-Uni, en tant que Président du Groupe de travail Notification a été approuvée à l'unanimité.
- Le Groupe de travail Notification a disposé des éléments suivants : (i) la version actuelle du projet révisé du Manuel, intégrant les commentaires et suggestions des Parties contractantes³ ; (ii) trois tableaux de commentaires⁴ ; et (iii) la version précédente du Manuel soumise à titre de consultation⁵.
- L'ordre du jour du Groupe de travail Notification (voir annexe I) abordait plusieurs sujets, enrichis par les commentaires et les suggestions des Parties contractantes. Parmi les points abordés figuraient l'interaction entre les Conventions Notification et Preuves, la notification d'actes à un État étranger ou à un fonctionnaire d'État, les contrats privés en lien avec la Convention Notification, la notification de substitution, l'utilisation de la Formule modèle et des signatures électroniques, ainsi que le fonctionnement des articles 8 et 10 de la Convention Notification. En outre, le Groupe a examiné la terminologie employée dans le projet révisé de Manuel et de la structure du texte actuel. Les délégations ont également partagé leurs points de vue sur les questions relatives à l'utilisation des technologies de l'information (TI) dans le cadre du fonctionnement de la Convention Notification, soulignant la nécessité de poursuivre l'examen de cette question lors de la réunion de la CS.
- Le Groupe de travail Preuves a tenu sa première réunion en ligne le 21 mai 2024 afin de discuter du projet révisé de Manuel Preuves. Cette réunion a rassemblé 37 délégués représentant

C&D No 47 du CAGP de 2024, disponible sur le site web de la HCCH, à l'adresse www.hcch.net, sous les rubriques « Gouvernance » puis « Conseil sur les affaires générales et la politique ».

Albanie, Allemagne, Argentine, Australie, Belgique, Brésil, Canada, Chine, Corée (République de), Costa Rica, États-Unis d'Amérique. Fédération de Russie, Finlande, France, Inde, Israël, Italie, Japon, Lettonie, Mexique, Pologne, République populaire de Chine, Royaume-Uni, Ukraine et Union européenne.

[«] Version révisée du Manuel pratique sur le fonctionnement de la Convention Notification », Doc. prél. No 7 de mai 2024, disponible sur le site web de la HCCH, à l'adresse www.hcch.net, sous les rubriques « Convention Notification » puis « Commission spéciale sur le fonctionnement pratique des Conventions Notification de 1965, Preuves de 1970 et Accès à la justice de 1980 ».

L'ensemble des commentaires reçus dans le cadre du projet révisé de Manuel Notification (Doc. prél. No 7 de mai 2024) sera disponible sur le Portail sécurisé du site web de la HCCH, à l'adresse www.hcch.net. Les commentaires et suggestions des Parties contractantes à la Convention Notification qui ont servi de base à l'ordre du jour du Groupe de travail Notification sont disponibles à l'annexe II du présent document.

Pour le processus complet de consultation, voir Doc. prél. No 7 de mai 2024 (op. cit. note 3).

- 26 Membres de la HCCH⁶. La proposition du BP de nommer Mme Aldana Rohr, de l'Argentine, en tant que Présidente du Groupe de travail Preuves a été approuvée à l'unanimité.
- 6 Le Groupe de travail Preuves a disposé des éléments suivants : (i) la version actuelle du Manuel, intégrant les commentaires et suggestions reçus des Parties contractantes⁷ ; (ii) trois tableaux de commentaires⁸ ; et (iii) la version précédente du Manuel soumise à consultation⁹.
- L'ordre du jour de la réunion du Groupe de travail Preuves (voir annexe III) abordait plusieurs sujets, notamment le délai d'exécution des Commissions rogatoires, l'utilisation du Formulaire modèle et des signatures électroniques, l'exécution directe et indirecte des actes d'instruction par liaison vidéo conformément aux Chapitres I et II de la Convention Preuves, les coûts, ainsi que la terminologie employée dans la version révisée du projet du Manuel Preuves. Tout comme lors de la réunion du Groupe de travail Notification, les délégués ont brièvement abordé certains de leurs commentaires et suggestions concernant l'utilisation des technologies de l'information dans le cadre de la Convention Preuves.
- 8 Les deux Groupes de travail ont examiné de manière exhaustive tous les sujets énumérés dans les deux ordres du jour. Le BP exprime sa profonde gratitude à toutes les délégations pour le temps qu'elles ont consacré à ces réunions et pour leur engagement.

II. Prochaines étapes

- 9 Le BP a pris note de toutes les discussions, y compris les différentes et nouvelles propositions faites par les délégations pour enrichir le contenu actuel des Manuels Notification et Preuves. Ces suggestions sont en cours de traitement par le BP et seront incorporées dans la prochaine itération des projets de Manuels.
- Les deux Groupes de travail sont convenus qu'un certain nombre de questions nécessitaient une discussion plus étendue et plus approfondie au sein de la CS. Ils prévoient de se réunir à nouveau à l'issue de la réunion de la CS pour veiller à ce que les nouvelles mises à jour, y compris les Conclusions et Recommandations (C&R) pertinentes, soient également intégrées dans les versions finales révisées des Manuels Notification et Preuves.

III. Proposition soumise à la CS

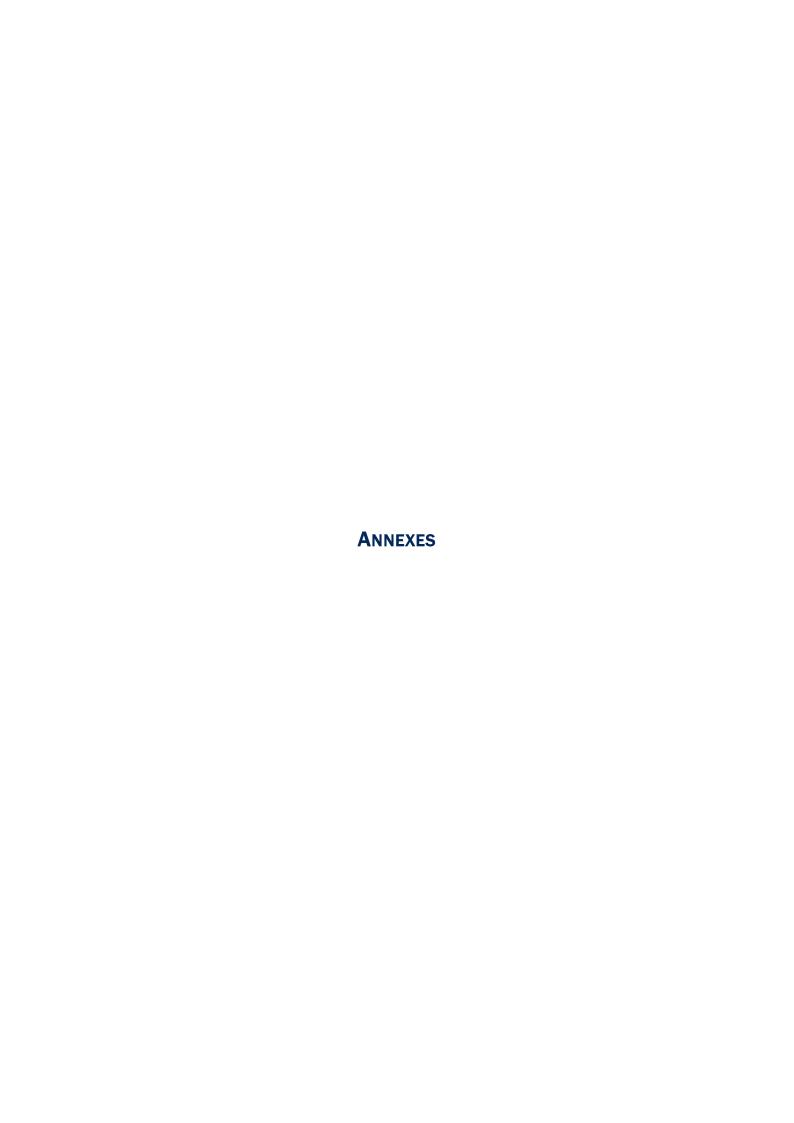

La CS est invitée à prendre note du rapport sur les Groupes de travail chargés de réviser et d'affiner les Manuels Notification et Preuves.

⁶ Voir les Membres mentionnés dans la note 2, et ajouter la République de Corée.

[«] Version révisée du Manuel pratique sur le fonctionnement de la Convention Notification », Doc. prél. No 8 de mai 2024, disponible sur le site web de la HCCH (voir chemin d'accès indiqué à la note 3).

Tous les commentaires et réactions reçus sur la version révisée du projet de Manuel Preuves (Doc. prél. No 8 de mai 2024) seront disponibles sur le Portail sécurisé du site web de la HCCH, à l'adresse www.hcch.net. Les commentaires et suggestions des Parties contractantes à la Convention Preuves qui ont permis d'établir l'ordre du jour du Groupe de travail Preuves sont disponibles à l'annexe IV du présent document.

⁹ Pour le processus complet de consultation, voir Doc. prél. No 8 de mai 2024(op. cit. note 3).

Annexe I : Ordre du jour de la réunion du Groupe de travail sur le Manuel pratique Notification

WG SERVICE PRACTICAL HANDBOOK MAY 2024 AGENDA

Working Group on the Service Practical Handbook and Country Profile

Meeting of 17 May 2024

DRAFT AGENDA

At its 2024 meeting, the Council on General Affairs and Policy (CGAP) approved the establishment of a Working Group (WG) consisting of representatives from a variety of geographical regions to review and refine updates to the Practical Handbook and Country Profile relevant to the Convention of 15 November 1965 on the Service Abroad of Judicial and Extrajudicial Documents in Civil or Commercial Matters (Service Convention) (C&D No 47 of CGAP 2024). The WG will meet online for the first time on Friday 17 May to discuss the Revised Draft Service Practical Handbook (Service Handbook) and then on Tuesday 28 May to discuss the Country Profile.

The session on Friday 17 May begins at 1.00 p.m. (CEST) and ends at 5.00 p.m., with a tea break from 2.00 to 2.15 p.m.

The WG has been provided with:

- the current version of the Service Handbook, reflecting comments and suggestions made by Contracting Parties;
- three tables of comments; and (ii)
- the previous consultation version of the Service Handbook. (iii)

The key documents that will be used during the meeting are the Agenda, Table 1, and the current version of the Service Handbook.

The WG will report on this meeting and on any recommendations for the Service Handbook at the July 2024 meeting of the Special Commission (SC) on the Practical Operation of the 1965 Service, 1970 Evidence and 1980 Access to Justice Conventions. Following the meeting of the SC, the WG will reconvene online to discuss further updates needed to the Service Handbook. It is anticipated that this second meeting of the WG could be scheduled in late August / early September 2024.

Delegations may have other issues which they wish to address and, as such, this agenda will be treated with a degree of flexibility and may be modified in accordance with the requirements of the discussion.

Delegations may submit Working Documents (WD) on the text of the Handbook for discussion during the meeting if required. However, it is recommended that WDs be submitted in advance of the meeting, so that these may be circulated to the WG in advance of the meeting.

Friday 17 N	riday 17 May 2024
	Time
The Hague			Item
1.00 p.m.	8.00 a.m.	7.00 p.m.	Opening remarks, introduction of WDs submitted to the WG, and administrative matters
			Appointment of the Chair
			Adoption of the Agenda
			A) Intersection of the 1965 Service and 1970 Evidence Conventions
			Items No 1-4 of Table 1, in response to comments and suggestions made by Australia, United States, and the European Union.
			B) Service upon a foreign State or State official
			Items No 5-6 of Table 1, in response to comments and suggestions made by the United States.
			C) Contracting Out
			Items No 7-9 of Table 1, in response to comments and suggestions made by Canada, China and the European Union.
			D) Substituted Service
			Items No 10-17 of Table 1, in response to comments and suggestions made by Canada, Australia, United Kingdom, and the European Union.
2.00 p.m.	9.00 a.m.	8.00 p.m.	Tea Break (15 min)
2.15 p.m.	9.15 a.m.	8.15 p.m.	E) Use of electronic signature
			Item No 18 of Table 1, in response to comments and suggestions made by the European Union.
			F) Use of the Warning in the Model Form
			Items No 19-20 of Table 1, in response to comments and suggestions made by the European Union.
			G) Practices relating to the completion of the Certificate

Items No 21-22 of Table 1, in response to comments and suggestions made by the European Union.

H) Operation of Article 8 in cases of double nationality

Item No 23 of Table 1, in response to a comment made by Australia.

I) Reciprocity

Items No 24-25 of Table 1, in response to comments and suggestions made by the European Union and Australia.

J) Terminology

- Applicant: item No 26 of Table 1, in response to a suggestion made by the United Kingdom.
- Huissier de justice: items No 27-28 of Table 1, in response to comments and suggestions made by Australia and the European Union.
- Derogatory channels: item No 29 of Table 1, in response to a comment made by the European Union.
- Notification au parquet: item No 30 of Table 1, in response to a comment made by the European Union.

K) Structure

Items No 31-34 of Table 1, in response to comments and suggestions made by Canada and the European Union.

L) Miscellaneous

Time permitting, the WG will discuss items No 35-50 of Table 1. These comments and suggestions refer to topics that will be addressed by the SC.

WG Members are also invited to raise any points they wish to discuss.

au des commentaires uel pratique Notificati	scussion du Groupe de

Practical Handbook on the Operation of the Service Convention

Please note that in the first column indicating the paragraph and / or footnote reference, the reference in brackets is the reference from the consultation version of the Handbook. The reference above it is the reference in the new, amended version of the Handbook.

Extracts of the revised Handbook have been provided to assist discussions.

	TABLE 1
			Comments a	and Feedback for Discussion of the WG
Agenda item	Reference Number	Paragraph Footnote Number	Contracting Party, incl. REIOs	Comment	Action / Notes
				122. Judicial documents for the purposes of the Conve or non-contentious jurisdiction, or instruments of judicial documents include writs of summons,2 a p decisions and judgments delivered by a member witnesses summons (subpoenas).3	enforcement.1 In most jurisdictions, party's submission in the proceedings,
Relevant text in revised Handbook: (distinction between a request for service / taking of evidence)			ervice / taking of	123. It is sometimes difficult to determine whether a switness located abroad, is subject to the 1965 Ser Convention. Contracting Parties have noted that not be used to serve subpoenas or other docuproduce evidence for use in the foreign court. Any form of testimony or documents, or tangible evidence submitted through the 1970 Evidence Convenience for the service of a summons and subpoevidence in fulfilment of a summons or subpoena,	vice Convention or the 1970 Evidence the 1965 Service Convention should aments that require the recipient to requests seeking information, in the ence including a DNA sample, should ation. There is a distinction between a ena, and a request for the taking the

In a decision dated 10 February 1999 (op. cit. note Error! Bookmark not defined.), the Cantonal Court of Fribourg (Switzerland) held that an act of prosecution (service of a notice of a ttachment on a debtor domiciled in France) is treated as a judicial document for the purposes of the Convention, at least when the prosecution relates to a receivable under private law (ruling received from the Central Authority; see also note Error! Bookmark not defined.).

The Appellate Court (Oberlandesgericht) of Munich (Germany) held that a United States "cross-complaint", i.e., pleadings entered by a defendant against another defendant, is to be likened to a writ of summons and should therefore be served in accordance with the Convention, OLG München, 17 November 1994, R/W 1995, p. 1026.

In Schneider v. Caesarstone Australia Pty Ltd. [2012] VSC 126, the Supreme Court of Victoria (Australia) noted (at para. 11) that "[i]t is apparent that the phrase 'judicial documents' is intended to include subpoenas for witnesses to give evidence". This view was endorsed by the Supreme Court of New South Wales in Caswell v. Sony/ATV Music Publishing (Australia) Pty Ltd. (op. cit. note Errorl Bookmark not defined.).

				have different legal implications for the witness. In between these two instruments, the 1970 Evidenc it secures protection for the witness.4
				124. Characterisation as a judicial document does not relief of default, a statement of appeal, or an applaw may all have to be transmitted for service about the Convention. In this respect, the statement of only the writ of summons is within the scope of subsequent communications during the trial (incluance) appear inconsistent with the Convention. ⁵	peal to a supreme court on a point of road and thus fall within the scope of a Florida (United States) judge that Article 1 of the Convention and not
A 1 Paras 122-123 Australia		Australia	In the context of requests under either the Service or Evidence Conventions relating to summons or subpoenas, it may be useful to note the distinction between a request for the service of a summons/subpoena (i.e. the authorities of the Requested State have limited involvement, they only need to serve it), as opposed to a request for the taking of evidence in fulfilment of a summons/subpoena to appear (i.e. the authorities of the Requested State are involved in actually obtaining the evidence by witness examination). These two different scenarios may also have different legal implications for the person being called to appear in each relevant State.	PB: The PB has amended the text in the Service Handbook and seeks the WG's views on the need to further develop this topic. In particular, the WG may wish to address practices relating to the use of the Service Convention for transmitting requests for the taking of evidence in fulfilment of a summons/subpoena to appear, as raised by Australia.
А	2	Para. 123	United States	The United States views evidence gathering and service to be separate and distinct. Therefore, in the United	PB: The PB has amended the text in the Service Handbook and seeks

Art. 11 of the Evidence Convention states that in the execution of a Letter of Request, the person concerned may refuse to give evidence in so far as they have a privilege or duty to refuse to give the evidence under the law of the State of execution, or the law of the State of origin (where this has been specified in the Letter of Request or confirmed to that authority by the requesting authority).

Chabert v. Bacquie, 694 So.2d 805 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 1997) (in addition, the Court found that the appellant had failed "to establish that French law required service abroad of initial process for the French appellate proceeding". Therefore, it is not clear whether the Convention should have applied). See also, S.E.C. v. Credit Bancorp, Ltd., No. 99 Civ. 11395 (RWS), 2011 WL 666158 (S.D.N.Y. Feb. 14, 2011) (holding that the Convention only applies to the initial service of process and not to subsequent documents because unlike Fed. R. Civ. Pro. 4, Fed. R. Civ. Pro. 5 "addresses the service of subsequent documents [...] and does not mention the Hague Service Convention or provide special procedural requirements for international service"); In re Jennifer O., 108 Cal. Rptr. 3d 846 (Cal. Ct. App. 2010) (where the Court held that the Convention did not apply, because it governs only "service of process in the technical sense" and there was no such service in dependency proceedings); and Kern County Department of Human Services v. Superior Court, 113 Cal. Rptr. 3d 735 (Cal. Ct. App. 2010) (where the Court found that service was not required, because the Convention does not apply to supplemental and subsequent juvenile dependency proceedings, and it had previously made a finding of proper notice to the parent).

		[Para. 118]		States, the Hague Service Convention cannot be used to serve subpoenas or other documents that require the recipient to produce evidence for use in the foreign court. Any requests seeking information, in the form of testimony or documents, or something tangible like a DNA sample, should be submitted through the Hague Evidence Convention. (We note that the United States has no objections to individuals providing evidence directly to a foreign court so long as they do so voluntarily. See 28 U.S.C. § 1782(b). Foreign subpoenas and court orders compelling production of evidence have no legal effect in the United States without domestication by a U.S. court).	the WG's views on the need to further develop and/or strengthen this distinction and the issue of 'overlap' with the Service and Evidence Conventions.
A	3	Para. 122 [Para. 118]	European Union	The sentence "requests for discovery of evidence sent to the parties even if these are orders delivered as part of evidentiary proceedings" should be deleted as those requests are covered by the Evidence Convention.	PB: The PB has deleted the sentence from the Service Handbook and seeks the WG's views on the need to further develop this topic.
A	4	Para. 123 [Para. 118]	European Union	Concerning the last sentence, we suggest the following clarification: "In the event of conflict between these two instruments, the 1970 Evidence Convention should prevail".	PB: The PB has amended the text in the Service Handbook and seeks the WG's views on the need to further develop this topic.
Relevant text in revised Handbook A note about service upon a foreign State or State official			or State official	115. Where service is to be effected upon a foreign State or State official, the Convention will apply because there will typically be a need to transmit a document abroad. ⁶ Accordingly, the channels of transmission provided for in the Convention must be used. In these types of cases, documents may be transmitted, for instance, via the Central Authority or via diplomatic channels under Article 9(2) of the Convention. ⁷ It should be noted that service on a State through diplomatic channels constitutes one of the

In the United States, service upon a foreign State or a political subdivision of a foreign State must be made in accordance with the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, which provides for four exclusive and hierarchical methods of service (28 U.S.C. § 1608). For more information, see D. Epstein, J. Snyder & C.S. Baldwin IV, International Litigation: A Guide to Jurisdiction, Practice, and Strategy, 3rd ed., New York, Transnational Publishers, Inc., 2002, § 7.15.

T. Bischof (op. cit. note Error! Bookmark not defined.), p. 247.

- 'exceptional circumstances' under which this means of transmission remains in conformity with the Convention (Art. 9(2)).8
- 116. In practice, Contracting Parties have had recourse to the Convention to forward requests for service upon States or State officials via diplomatic channels under Article 9(2) of the Convention or via the Central Authority channel (albeit in some cases without success). Others have resorted to diplomatic channels under customary international law. Other States clarify or limit the serving of documents upon their respective States and State officials through declaration mechanisms, such as either declaring that it is highly desirable that service upon its State and State officials be transmitted by diplomatic channels; or by declaring explicitly to exclude the application of the Convention in such cases and calling for the use of diplomatic channels; or by opposing the use of the postal channels pursuant to Article 10(a) of the Convention.
- 117. At the 2009 meeting of the Special Commission, it was noted that "some States Parties have reported difficulties using the main channel of transmission to serve documents upon another State Party, an official of another State Party or State-owned companies" and encouraged Contracting Parties to inform the Permanent Bureau about their practices in this regard. As of this fifth edition of the Handbook, no such information has been received.
- 118. Among the issues that may arise when attempting service on government entities, ¹⁵ and Embassies or Consulates, is whether these entities are a separate juridical entity that may be served with documents, or whether the relevant State should be served instead. Under general principles of international law, it is accepted that Embassies and

⁸ Ibid

In Gurung v. Malhotra, 279 F.R.D. 215 (S.D.N.Y. 2011), a United States court ordered alternative service on a State official by e-mail because the Central Authority of the Requested State refused to execute the request on Art. 13 grounds. The court further noted that diplomatic immunity is considered to be a "substantive" defence and courts may properly review questions of immunity once service has been completed.

See responses to Questions Nos 9 and 10 of the 2022 Questionnaire. The United States Central Authority has a publicly available memorandum (published in 6 languages) outlining the requirements for valid service on the United States. See OIJA Guidance on Service on the U.S. Government (HSC), https://www.justice.gov/civil/service-requests.

See the respective declarations of the Russian Federation and Azerbaijan, available on the Service Section of the HCCH website.

See the declaration of Austria available on the Service Section of the HCCH website.

 $^{^{\}rm 13}$ $\,$ See the declaration of Israel available on the Service Section of the HCCH website.

See C&R No 27 of the 2009 SC.

In the United States, service upon an agency or instrumentality of a foreign State can be made according to the following hierarchical methods: in accordance with a special arrangement for service in an agreement between the parties or by delivering a copy of the summons and complaint either to an officer, a managing or general agent of the agency or instrumentality, or in accordance with an applicable international convention, or by letter rogatory, or as directed by the court. See, 28 U.S.C. § 1608(b) of the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act. For further information, see D. Epstein, J. Snyder & C.S. Baldwin IV (op. cit. note 6), § 7.15[3] and A.F. Lowenfeld, International Litigation and Arbitration, 2nd ed., St. Paul, Minn., American Casebook Series, West Group, 2002, pp. 628-635. Also, see Isaac Indus., Inc. V. Petroquimica de Venezuela, S.A., et al., No. 1:19-23113-CIVSCOLA/GOODMAN (S.D. Fla. Mar. 01, 2022) (finding that service upon an instrumentality of a foreign State cannot be valid solely through a mere delivery of the documents to a Central Authority).

				Consulates cannot be served directly with docum immunity of their premises. Accordingly, in such can Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the relevant State. defendants may include additional requirements person, due to the applicability of customary intercontact the Central Authority of the State on which effected prior to transmission, so as to ensure that applicable requirements.	As requests for service on sovereign beyond those for service on a private ernational law, it is recommended to the service of process is sought to be
В	5	Paras 115- 118 [Paras 111- 114]	United States	In order for the U.S. Central Authority to execute a request for service on the U.S. government, the request must also comply with customary international law requirements. For example, the United States must be provided 60 days' notice before a hearing date, or before an initial response or appearance is required. As receipt by the U.S. Central Authority does not equate to service on the United States, the request must provide sufficient time for the U.S. Central Authority to serve the appropriate U.S. government office. It would be helpful if the Handbook stated that service requests on sovereigns may be subject to additional requirements. Accordingly, the U.S. Central Authority proposes that ¶ 110 be amended to include the following sentences: Requests for service on sovereign defendants include additional requirements beyond those for service on a private person, due to the applicability of customary international law. It is recommended to contact the Central Authority of the state on which service of process is sought to be effected prior to transmission, so as to ensure that the service request complies with	PB: The PB has incorporated the suggestion made by the United States into the Service Handbook. The PB seeks the WG's views on the need to further develop the discussion on service of documents upon a foreign State or State official.

See Art. 22 of the Vienna Convention of 18 April 1961 on Diplomatic Relations and Art. 31 of the Vienna Convention of 24 April 1963 on Consular Relations. For further commentary on this point, see D. Gauthey & A.R. Markus, L'entraide judiciaire internationale en matière civile, Berne, Stämpfli Editions SA, 2014, pp. 160-161. See also LArbG Berlin-Brandenburg, dated January 10, 2020 – 15 Ta 2185/19 (ruling that, service of documents on the Embassy of Qatar in Berlin must be carried out through diplomatic channels. The court based its decision on the above provisions of the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations, which prohibit acts of sovereignty by the host country, and the German Courts Constitution Act (GVG), which extends the application of inviolability even when the sending State is not a party to the Vienna Convention).

					applicable requirements, including customary rnational law.
В	6	Paras 115 – 118 [Paras 111 - 114]	United States	Requests to serve sovereign States. The U.S. Central Authority also notes that it has a publicly available memorandum (published in 6 languages) that outlines the requirements for valid service on the United States. See OIJA Guidance on Service on the U.S. Government (HSC), https://www.justice.gov/civil/service-requests . The U.S. Central Authority would encourage the citation of this guidance as an example in a footnote to the proposed amendment to ¶ 110. It might be helpful were the upcoming Special Commission to discuss the application of customary international law for requests to serve sovereign States.
					Can parties to a contract agree to exclude the application of the Conventio defendant is located abroad?
				79.	At the outset, it should be noted that service is a key element of the right to a and is part of the procedural public policy of a number of Contracting Parties. The of documents:
					 enables the issue in dispute to be brought to the notice of the direction respondent, or other interested party, 	efendant,
	Relevant text in revised Handbook Contracts and the Convention			 in a number of common law States, is also the basis for establis jurisdiction of the court, and 	shing the
				 where not properly executed, may be a ground for refusal to the recogn enforcement of a judgment. 	nition and
			80.	Courts in the United States have considered whether service was effected in account with due process in evaluating the validity of service, i.e. , if service was perform providing "notice reasonably calculated, under all circumstances, to interested parties of the action and afford them an opportunity to presobjections". It was in the light of the criteria laid down by state law and by the of due process that the District Court of Pennsylvania reviewed the validity of clause contained in a guaranty agreement. The clause provided that notice	rmed in a paper apprise sent their principle a service

- validly served on two guarantors in Germany at an address in the United States (Pennsylvania), even if no notice of that service was then given to the guarantors in Germany. The US District Court held that the German guarantors had contractually appointed a domestic agent for service of process. The court concluded that "because service at the address in Indianapolis as provided in the guaranty agreements is acceptable under Pennsylvania law and comports with the due process clause, the Convention is not implicated".
- 81. While the above decision has to be read against the background of the Schlunk decision, it raises the question of whether the parties to a contract may agree to establish their own regime of service, and whether such contractual agreements can and should circumvent the Convention.
- 82. In civil law systems, this approach would be unusual as rules of procedure (such as those relevant to service) are not subject to variation by the parties to a contract; this applies even more in jurisdictions where service is seen as an act of sovereignty. In other words, if the law of the forum provides for service abroad and thus triggers the applicability of the Convention the parties are not able to decide otherwise.
- 83. Recently, courts in the state of California in the United States have examined this issue.
- 84. In the case of Rockefeller, the United States-based plaintiff entered into a contractual agreement with the China-based defendant, in which the parties agreed to the provision of notice of disputes "via Federal Express or similar courier, with copies via facsimile or email": and "consent[ing] to service of process in accord with the [those] notice provisions." Subsequently, the United States plaintiff served a summons and petition on the China based defendant by Federal Express (FedEx) in China, a State that has objected to service of process by postal channels under the Convention. The California Supreme Court, which is the highest court in the state of California, considered whether the parties were permitted to agree to notification of the civil action by FedEx.
- 85. In Rockefeller, the Los Angeles County Superior Court and the California Court of Appeal had diverging views on whether the 1965 Service Convention prohibited the parties from agreeing to service of process by FedEx or similar courier. The California Court of Appeal reversed the decision of the Los Angeles County Superior Court and held that the agreed method of communication between the parties was not permitted by the Convention. The Court of Appeal focused on giving effect to the Convention's terms and paying due regard to China's declared opposition to service by mail under the Convention. However, the United States Supreme Court of California, again reversed that position and held that the Convention did not apply because the parties' contract constituted a waiver of formal service under Californian law in favour of an alternative

- form of notification. When reaching this decision, the Supreme Court of California held that "the Convention applies only when the law of the forum State requires formal service of process to be sent abroad". In other words, the Convention will apply when the law of the forum requires the transmission of documents for service abroad.
- 86. In the context of the above case, it should be reiterated that upon its accession to the Convention, China objected to the application of Article 10(a). Therefore, service in China using the postal channel is contrary to this declaration. It would be deemed procedurally defective and would prevent a judgment from being recognised by a Chinese court.
- 87. Using a similar line of reasoning, the Californian Court of Appeal in Seagate held that the Convention would not apply in circumstances where parties had agreed to waive formal service of process under Californian law (the law of the forum) and instead use a method of informal notification. In this case, pursuant to an agreement between the parties that service would be effected by mail, a United States plaintiff attempted to serve an India-based defendant by post, even though India had opposed service by post under Article 10(a) of the Convention. The Court, citing Rockefeller and noting that the agreement constituted a formal waiver of service in favour of informal notification, upheld service on the defendant in this case.
- 88. It has been observed by commentators that the case of Seagate appears to permit parties to opt for a form of service, that looks exactly like service, and has the same purpose and effect as service, but is not described as service, in order to avoid the requirements of the Convention. The concern with this approach is that provisions of the Convention enable Contracting Parties to object to certain channels of transmission, including service by postal channels and can serve to protect States from infringements on their judicial sovereignty. In other words, when a State objects to service by postal channels in its territory, it is asserting its own interests, not (just) the interests of people in its territory who may be served with process.
- 89. At the 2003 meeting of the Special Commission, several experts confirmed that such arrangements would not be possible in their States. However, others pointed out that enforcement of a judgment entered pursuant to service performed according to such arrangements would not necessarily be denied as a result.
- 90. In this regard, some commentators have observed that there is a tension between the Convention's purpose of bringing actual notice to the defendant in an efficient manner, and notions of sovereignty and territoriality. The "efficiency" of service must also be assessed against the principles of legal certainty (ensuring that the decision issued will ultimately be capable of recognition and enforcem trial.	ent) and the rights of parties to a fair

С	7	Paras 78 - 90 [Paras 76-87]	China	,	PB: The PB has developed the text of the Service Handbook to reflect part of the suggestions made by China. The relationship between the operation of the Service Convention and contractual agreements will be further developed in a Preliminary Document to the SC. The PB will reflect any discussions and recommendations adopted by the SC in the text of the Service Handbook.
				parties have used this system which proves itself an efficient and reliable way of implementation of the Convention. This office takes this opportunity to call for more US requesting parties to use this system to increase the efficiency of the Convention at www.ilcc.online. (iii) The Ministry of Justice of China is willing to make joint efforts with the Department of Justice of US to improve the judicial cooperation between the two countries. We suggest to add the above statement into the description of the case.

С	8	Paras 78 - 90 [Paras 76 - 87]	European Union	This note seems to be exclusively about the US caselaw, which should be stated in the title of the note	PB: see comment above.
С	9	Para. 81 [Para. 79]	Canada	We do not agree with the characterization that such agreements circumvent the Convention. If such agreements are valid under the law of the state of origin, this means that there is no need to serve the document abroad and so the application of the Convention is not engaged. Perhaps this is a topic that could be discussed by the Special Commission. The cases that are described below do not give examples of situations where parties to a contract agree that service should be effected upon an agent in the forum state, thus removing the need to service abroad. It would be interesting to read about cases that examine this issue.	PB: see comment above.
Relevant text in revised Handbook Substituted service				 98. Substituted service may be one instance where the Convention applies, but where service may be impracticable or impossible. Additionally, substituted service may be employed when the address of the person to be served is unknown, thereby falling outside of the scope of the Convention according to Article 1(2), or when service does not occur within a Contracting Party. 99. Substituted service refers to the situation where a document is required to be served for the purpose of legal proceedings before a court, and that court directs that the use of some alternative means of bringing the document to the attention of the party to be served will constitute, or be treated as, valid service. Service is typically achieved through personal service, where a process server physically hands the documents to be served to the party to be served. However, there are situations where personal service becomes difficult or impossible, or for some other good reason it may be judged

- 100. Some common scenarios in which substituted service may be authorised include where: the party is intentionally evading service to avoid legal responsibility;
 - the party's current whereabouts is unknown, and traditional service attempts have failed.
- 101. In such cases, the court may permit substituted service as an alternative. Substituted service can be accomplished by methods including leaving documents with an agent, at the office of the relevant corporation or business, or posting them in a public place. Substituted service is usually subject to specific rules and requirements of a jurisdiction to ensure that the rights of the defendant are protected and that the alternative method of (substituted) service is fair and reasonable.
- 102. The English courts continue to make orders for service by alternative means in accordance with Civil Procedure Rule 6.15 in circumstances where the Convention applies. In so doing, the Court of Appeal of England and Wales has stated, "the Practical Handbook refers to the 'exclusive character' of the Convention (para. 51). However, at present, this is not the approach taken in England and Wales and it would require a significant shift to exclude, in particular, e-mail or other electronic forms of service on a party resident in a 1965 Convention State".
- 103. There has been some degree of dispute as to the threshold that must be demonstrated in order to grant an order for alternative or substituted service in circumstances where the Convention applies. One strand of case law suggests a possible requirement of exceptional circumstances or special circumstances to justify service by alternative means where the Convention applies. Other cases indicate that the test is uniform, namely that good reason must be demonstrated for making the substituted service order, but the fact that the order would result in service by means not provided for by the Convention will be relevant to whether good reason has been shown. Either way, it is recognised that there is a higher threshold where the Convention applies than in other cases. When the Convention does not apply, it must only be shown that the defendant is adequately informed of the contents of the claim form and the nature of the claimant's claim.
- 104. As to the circumstances that will satisfy the test, it has been repeatedly emphasised that merely avoiding delay or inconvenience is insufficient to justify substituted service where the Convention applies. However, as noted by Foxton J in M v N there are now some clear examples of cases in which the circumstances are likely to be considered to justify an order for alternative service, including:

				where the effect of delay in effecting service on the either substantially interfere with directions for the	Cases in which an attempt is being made to join a new party to existing proceedings, where the effect of delay in effecting service on the new party under the Convention will either substantially interfere with directions for the existing trial, or require claims which there is good reason to hear together, to be heard separately.
				Cases where the proceedings have been begun wi to be served immediately or in short order on the r	=
				Cases where an expedited trial is appropriate, an necessary to achieve the required expedition.	d the order for alternative service is
				It has also been suggested that an order for alter when the order sought arises out of a hearing which in service under the Convention might lead to the prolonged period after the fact-finding has been financial consequences of requiring service under of a low value claim financially unviable.	th has already taken place, and delay the issues being determined over a undertaken or in cases in which the
				105. Orders for alternative service are routinely made in the Commercial Court, even in Convention cases, in claims for relief under the Arbitration Act 1996, as part of the policy of English law to promote, where possible, the speedy finality of arbitration.
				106. In addition to the categories of cases detailed in F the courts are also willing to consider an order for where numerous attempts to serve have been m proceedings, and is deliberately evading service.	alternative service in circumstances
D	10	Para. 98	Canada	In our view, the Convention would apply if the order for substitute or alternative service gave rise to service in a contracting state and the address of the person to be served is known.	PB: the WG may wish to discuss this further and consider whether further changes to the text is
	[Para. 95]		Gundud	If the order does not give rise to service in a contracting state or if it does but the address of the person is not known, the Convention would not apply. It would be interesting to include a paragraph that discusses this.	required.
D	11	Paras 98-106 [Paras 95-102]	Australia	We agree that substituted service is an important aspect to include and would invite the PB to consider further elaborating on the legal and practical aspects of	PB: see comment above.

this issue. For example, it is not entirely clear which court is responsible for making orders for substituted service (i.e. the court in the requesting State before which the proceedings are pending or the court in the requested State that is being asked to effect service – and as an aside, which person/authority should apply for the orders if the authority competent to effect/arrange service is not a court?).

We understand that depending on the circumstances of the case, orders may be made in either the Requested State or the Requesting State, but we believe it would be useful to clarify this. For example, of the common scenarios listed in paragraph 96, the first (the addressee is evading service) might be a situation where the court in the Requested State / requested authority makes orders for substituted service. In such a case, does the requested authority need to confirm that the requesting authority does not have any issues with this or it is sufficient that the documents will be served under the Requested State's law (albeit via substituted service).

In the second of the common scenarios listed in para. 96, it may be that one or multiple attempts have failed to serve at the "known" address, in which case the Requesting Authority may request substituted service by particular method under Art. 5(1)(b), or alternatively may make an order for substituted service because the address that was thought to be known is no longer accurate. In the latter case, the Convention would presumably no longer apply, but the question remains of how service should be effected between Contracting Parties in such a case and what are the relevant thresholds/considerations for when a previously "known" address is no longer deemed to be "known".

D	12	Paras 98–106 [Paras 95-102]	European Union	The difference between this note and the note on the notification au parquet is not obvious. We propose a clearer and more logical order of events: service under the Convention and then substituted service etc.	PB: see comment above.
D	13	Paras 98–106 [Paras 95-102]	United Kingdom	(ii) change para 96 to para 95 as follow Substituted service refers to the situation where a document is required to be served for the purpose of legal proceedings before a court, and that court directs that the use of some alternative means of bringing the document to the attention of the party to be served will constitute or be treated as valid service. Service is ordinarily to be achieved through personal service, where a process server hands the document to be served to the party to be served. Personal service may, however, be difficult or impossible ^[1] , or for some other good reason it may be judged inappropriate to insist on personal service. (iii) Insert new para 97 (which was a part of para 96) as below: Some common scenarios in which substituted service may be authorised include where: > the party is intentionally evading service to avoid legal responsibility. > the party's current whereabouts is unknown, and traditional service attempts have failed. (iv) Change para 99 as below: There has been some degree of dispute as to the threshold that must be demonstrated in order to grant an order for alternative or substituted service in circumstances where the Convention applies. One strand of case law suggests a possible requirement of exceptional circumstances or special circumstances to	PB: The PB has incorporated the suggestion made by the United Kingdom into the Service Handbook. The PB would welcome the WG's views on the extent to which this topic should be covered by the Service Handbook.

justify service by alternative means where the Convention applies. [3] Other cases indicate that the test is uniform, namely that good reason must be demonstrated for making the substituted service order, but the fact that the order would result in service by means not provided for by the Convention will be relevant to whether good reason has been shown. [4] Either way, it is recognised that there is a higher threshold where the Convention applies than in other cases. When the Convention does not apply, it must only be shown that the defendant is adequately informed of the contents of the claim form and the nature of the claimant's claim. [5]

(v) Change para 100 as below:

As to the circumstances that will satisfy the test, it has been repeatedly emphasised that merely avoiding delay or inconvenience is insufficient to justify substituted service where the Convention applies. [6] However, as noted by Foxton J in M v. N, [7] there are now some clear examples of cases in which the circumstances are likely to be considered to justify an order for alternative service, including: [8]"

(vi) Change para 101 as below

Orders for alternative service are routinely made in the Commercial Court, even in Convention cases, in claims for relief under the Arbitration Act 1996, as part of the policy of English law to promote, where possible, the speedy finality of arbitration"

(vii) Change para 102 as below:

In addition to the categories of cases detailed in Foxton J's judgment, [14] it is evident that the courts are also willing to consider an order for alternative service in circumstances where numerous attempts to serve have been made, the defendant is aware of the proceedings, and is deliberately evading service. [15]

D	14	Paras 98-106 [Paras 95-102]	European Union	In addition, this paragraph should explain that substituted service may only be considered if a prior attempt for service under the Convention has failed. If this approach is not supported by the case law of England and Wales, we do not support an extensive presentation of that case law. The Handbook should clarify that substituted service, without a prior attempt for service under the Convention, is not compatible with the exclusive nature of the Convention where under the law of the forum, documents have to be served abroad in another Contracting State of the Convention.	PB: see comment above.
D	15	Paras 98 – 106 [Paras 95 – 102]	European Union	Finally, in many contracting parties, service can be achieved through different methods (placing the document in the letter box, handing the document to someone present in the place of living or in the place of work, notifying the document to a third party designated by the respondent etc.). Therefore, we request the following clarification of the second sentence of para. 96: "service is typically achieved through One of the most used methods of service is personal service, where a process server physically hands the documents to the party".	PB: see comment above.
D	16	Para 102 [Para 98]	European Union	In addition, the reference to email and other electronic forms of service in the last sentence, and the link to substituted service are not clear.	PB: see comment above.
D	17	Paras 102- 106 [Paras 98-102]	European Union	Those paragraphs give too much emphasis (paras 98-102) to the case law from England and Wales, even though this case law contradicts the general view presented at the outset, namely that the Convention is exclusive. This contradiction is not even clearly acknowledged. We believe that where the Convention is applicable, substitute service can only be effected if	PB: see comment above.

				(i) an attempt for service was made under the Convention and (ii) this attempt has been unsuccessful. In addition, if the recipient is allowed to refuse the service of a document, their refusal should not be a valid ground to order substitute service (for instance informal service without translation, service by consular agents). We would therefore propose deleting or limiting the references to this caselaw, and possibly placing it in a footnote.
Relevant text in revised Handbook Who should complete the model form?			The Request for service is to be completed and signed or The Certificate (which confirms whether or not the requise to be completed and signed or stamped either by the State or any other competent authority that the Requipurpose. This completed Certificate is then sent back to the Certificate is not completed by the Central Authoric completed by a huissier de justice), the forwarding authoric be countersigned by one of these authorities (Art. 6(3)). served is to be completed by the forwarding authority and documents to be served. The Summary should also be active manner in which the Model Form is to be filled in, instructions drafted by Mr Möller, reproduced in Annex 5	uest for service has been executed) e Central Authority of the Requested ested State has designated for that to the forwarding authority directly. If ty or a judicial authority (e.g., if it is nority may require that the Certificate The Summary of the document to be d delivered to the addressee with the ecompanied by the Warning (regarding see paragraphs 188 et seq. and the
E	E 18 FAQ 13 European Union		European Union	In the first sentence, the words "and signed or stamped" could be added after "completed" to clarify that the request should be signed or stamped by the forwarding authority. The same goes for the second sentence concerning the certificate.	PB: The PB appreciates the suggestion made by the European Union and refers this topic to the WG for discussion. This issue is also relevant to electronic signatures.
Relevant text in revised Handbook What is the Model Form?			11. What is the Model Form? In its Annex, the Convention provides a Model Form (reproduced in Annex 3 of this Handbook at pp. 171 et seq.; see comments in paras 188 et seq. and Annex 6, "Guidelines for completing the Model Form"). The Model Form consists of three parts: a Request for service (which is sent to the Central Authority of the Requested State), a Certificate (which is reproduced on the reverse side of the Request and which confirms whether or not the documents have been served), and a form entitled Summary of the document to be served (to be delivered to the addressee).

				In addition, the Fourteenth Session of the HCCH recommended that the Summary be preceded by a Warning relating to the legal nature, purpose and effects of the document to be served (the Warning is reproduced in Annex 3 at pp. 171 et seq.).
F	F 19 FAQ 11 European Union		European Union	We recommend adding the following sentence: "As the warning is not mandatory, a request should not be returned unexecuted on the basis that the warning is not attached". PB: Before adding this suggestion the HB, the PB would like refer topic to the WG for discussion.
				12. Is use of the Model Form mandatory?
		sed Handbook Form mandatory?		The Model Form is mandatory when the main channel of However, the Fourteenth Session of the HCCH also reco Form containing the Summary, accompanied by the War be used in all cases when a judicial or extrajudicial docu to be served abroad, i.e., not only for transmission thro Authority, but also for transmission through the alterna Convention. In practice, some Contracting Parties, as Certificate to inform the forwarding authority of whether even if transmission of the request has been executed provided for in Article 10(b) and (c).	ommended that the part of the Model ning (see Annex 6 at pp. 184 et seq.), ment in civil or commercial matters is bugh the main channel of the Central tive channels provided for under the state of destination, use the er the documents have been served,
F	20	FAQ 12	European Union	We propose to add after the first sentence that the warning is not mandatory. This is relevant here as well since Question 12 is about the mandatory nature of the whole form.	PB: Before adding this suggestion to the HB, the PB would like to refer this topic to the WG for discussion.
Relevant text in the revised handbook Certificate of Service (Art. 6)				295. The Certificate must contain certain items of execution, or non-execution of the request (see pa case may be. However, the case law suggests tha in this respect. For instance, the Supreme Court stated that Article 6 does not require the use of the Court, it was sufficient for the Certificate to contain Form to meet the requirements of Article 6. The that the aim of the Certificate is not to protect the While there is no doubt that the lack of excessive forms.	tras 1 and 2 of the Certificate), as the t the practice is not overly formalistic of the Netherlands (Hoge Raad) has be Model Form itself; according to the nother the essential elements of the Model Court justified its decision by stating interests of the person to be served.

				has to emphasise that because of the widespread use of the Convention, many courts tend to view the Certificate as an authoritative approval which confirms that service has been properly effected in conformity with the law of the Requested State. In other words, use of the Certificate annexed to the Convention is highly encouraged.
G	21	Para. 295 [Para. 287]	European Union	We suggest adding that the certificate helps to overcome the language barriers, and that, when filled in electronically, its content is clearer and easier to process. PB: The PB appreciates the suggestion made by the European Union and refers this topic to the WG for discussion.
Relevant text in the revised Handbook Criticisms of the Model Form				Some huissiers de justice (especially in Belgium and the Netherlands) have criticised certain aspects of the Request in the Model Form. In their view, the Request form does not provide sufficient information to foreign recipients of claims for payment (which account for a large proportion of documents served). In order for the defendant to be able to enter an appropriate defence, or on the contrary, to decide to pay the amount claimed, it was submitted the form should contain information as to the amount due, the location of and period for payment, the forms of defence and the consequences for the defendant of any defence.
G	22	Para. 196 [Para. 189]	European Union	The purpose of this paragraph is not clear, and we suggest deleting it. While this is an interesting basis for future discussions in the Special Commission, the Handbook should not refer to opinions of stakeholders, but only provide legal and practical guidance.	PB: The PB appreciates the comment made by the European Union and refers the topic to the WG for further discussion.
	Relevant text in the revised Handbook Direct Diplomatic or Consular Channels (Art. 8(1))			347. A Contracting Party may declare that it is oppose diplomatic and direct consular channels on its te served on a national of the State of origin (Art. 8(2) such an objection, these channels may only be use of origin. For example, the Principality of Andorra I service of documents effected directly by the d Contracting Parties on persons who are not nation	rritory, unless the document is to be). If the State of destination has made ad for service on nationals of the State has declared that it is opposed to the iplomatic or consular agents of the
Н	23	Para. 347 [Para. 339]	Australia	It may be useful to clarify what happens in the case of addressees with multiple nationalities, for example is it sufficient if the addressee has nationality of the Sending State of the diplomatic/consular agent? Or is such a national ultimately protected by a declaration if they are also a national of the Host State?	studied, and does not seem to raise any known difficulties. However, the PB seeks the WG's advice on the need to further develop this topic.

Relevant text in the revised Handbook Reciprocity				335. As far as the State of destination is concerned, it may assert the reciprocity of the objection made by the originating State. Thus, the State of destination may refuse service through postal channels emanating from the originating State, even if the State of destination did not itself object to this method of transmission. The principle of reciprocity of the objection asserted by the State of destination may be based on equity and traditional theory of public international law: if a State makes a reservation provided for under the terms of a treaty, it cannot require from the other Contracting Parties the respect of a Convention term or provision, the application of which it refuses itself. However, this principle is not steadfast and, in accordance with a more modern approach, may be nuanced as follows: while a State which has made a reservation will not be able to require other Contracting Parties (which have not made the same reservation) to apply the treaty without reciprocity, these other States are in no way obliged to apply the treaty with reciprocity. In other words, the other States have the possibility to waive the reciprocity. Further specific information on the reciprocal effect of an objection to the postal channel is explored in that segment at para. 378.
Para. 335 [Para. 327] European Union		European Union	We suggest adding to this paragraph that this approach (reciprocity) does not guarantee legal certainty and may be complex in practice, as it obliges the forwarding authorities to check their own requirements for incoming requests, and possibly the most recent caselaw of the requested State before being able to use a channel. This seems contrary to the objectives of the Convention and what has been achieved by the Permanent Bureau through the website (provide some readily available and reliable information on the possibility to use a specific channel).
Relevant text in the revised Handbook Reciprocal effect of 10(a)				378. As mentioned in paragraph 333, one further issue is whether an objection to Article 10(a) by a Contracting Party has the effect of reciprocity. Can a Contracting Party rely on Article 10(a) to serve when it has, itself, objected to this channel of transmission in respect of documents coming from abroad? In this regard, the action taken by the Slovak Republic, which objected to the service of documents on its territory through postal channels, is of particular interest. The Slovak Republic contacted other Contracting Parties, by way of the diplomatic channel, in order to request them to clarify their position, i.e. , to indicate whether they would assert reciprocity of the Slovak reservation or not. All Contracting Parties that replied declared that they would not assert reciprocity of the Slovak reservation. Germany has also enquired through its Embassies as to whether or not Contracting Parties would assert reciprocity with regard to Article 10(a). Among the other States which have objected to transmission through postal channels, not all of them have undertaken the same effort to contact the other Contracting Parties, but nevertheless avoid using this means of transmission for service of their documents abroad (this is notably the case with Switzerland) except where the State of destination has expressly communicated that it accepts service through postal channels from the objecting State of origin.

I	25	Para. 378 [Para. 370]	Australia	On the question of reciprocity with respect to Art. 10(a), we wonder whether a State would even be aware of the extent to which Art. 10(a) is used? For example, Australian authorities have little to no oversight over incoming or outgoing requests that make use of postal channels, and we suspect many other countries would be the same.	PB: The PB notes the suggestion made by Australia and refers the discussion to the WG.
Relevant t Applicant		sed Handbook		A term used in both the 1965 Service Convention and the Model Form to refer to the forwarding authority. This Handbook uses the term "forwarding authority" instead of the term "applicant" for ease of reference and to provide a more functional description of this role.
J	26	Glossary (Applicant)	United Kingdom	Insert "This will avoid any possible confusion, where relevant, with the litigating party seeking to have documents served pursuant to the Convention.", at the end of the sentence.	PB: The PB notes the suggestion made by the United Kingdom and refers the discussion to the WG.
Relevant text in the revised Handbook Hussier de justice			A French term used in this Handbook to refer to a judicial officer. The role of a judicial officer, in the context of the Service Convention, is sometimes akin to that of a bailiff or sheriff in English-speaking States.
J 27 Glossary Australia		Australia	Recognising this is not a common term in English, we would suggest somehow explaining that the role of a	PB: The PB appreciates the suggestion made by Australia and refers the discussion to the WG.

		(Huissier de justice)		judicial officer in this sense might be akin to a bailiff or sheriff in some English-speaking countries.
J	28	General Comment	European Union	We suggest replacing the term huissier de justice by the corresponding English term, such as bailiff (with the relevant explanation in the glossary if necessary), to improve the readability of the Handbook.	PB: see comment above.
Relevant text in the revised Handbook Derogatory Channels				Channels of transmission other than those provided for under the 1965 Service Convention are referred to as derogatory channels. There are two types of derogatory channels: those provided in bilateral or multilateral agreements concluded among Contracting Parties (Arts 11, 24 and 25); and those provided by the domestic law of the State of destination (Art. 19).
Glossary (Derogatory channels) European Union		European Union	This term is new, and we wonder whether it is useful. The Handbook should be precise and rather refer to the methods of transmission provided for in multilateral or bilateral agreements or in national law. We don't see the need for an umbrella term (which anyway appears less than 10 times in the handbook).	PB: The PB appreciates the comment made by the European Union and notes that the term "Derogatory channels" refers to channels other than the main channel of transmission (Art. 5) and the alternative channels (Arts 8-10) that are provided by bilateral and other multilateral agreements or the domestic law of the State of destination. This has been used in the 4th edition of the Service Practical Handbook. The PB refers this comment to the WG for discussion.
Relevant text in revised Handbook Notification au parquet				18. In its original form, notification au parquet provides for legally effective service (even in the context of a procedure that is international in nature and where the address abroad of the recipient is known) by mere deposit of the relevant documents with the State attorney in the forum State or by putting up a notice on the notice-board of the court seised. Even when the notification au parquet is followed by a transmission of the document (or, depending on the system, a copy of the document) to the addressee abroad, service is valid with the deposit of the document in the forum State. However, at the time of the notification au parquet, the addressee is obviously unable to take notice of the document in question. It is not surprising that notification au parquet and, in particular, its potentially detrimental effects on a defendant abroad, occupied an important place in the negotiations of the Convention and that Articles 15 and 16 were included.

J	30	Para. 18 (notification au parquet)	European Union	We wonder if this wording is understandable to all English speakers, and whether it should not be replaced or supplemented by a more general and clear term like "and other fictitious methods of service". PB: The PB has retained this term on the basis that the note sets out an explanation of what notification au parquet is. The PB notes the suggestion made by the European Union and seeks the WG's advice on the need to replace the term notification au parquet or provide further explanation.
	ext in revised of the Handbo			 76. Some States do assert that the Convention should This is the case in particular for Switzerland, instrument of ratification made a general declaration its view, the Convention was to apply on an exsuggested by this Handbook: on a mandatory basing. 77. However, the non-mandatory approach had been Commission. Further, there is no indication that the aftermath of the Schlunk and Mabanaft Contracting Parties may also impact on whether the 	which at the time of deposit of its ion relating to Article 1 to stress that, clusive basis (i.e., in the terminology s) among the Contracting Parties. n expressly accepted by the Special he Convention has been applied less rulings. However, other practices in
К	31	Paras 76 – 77 [Paras 73-75]	European Union	We find that the current structure of the Handbook could be reassessed, to be more accessible to non-experts and provide clear practical guidance. The chapter is called "non-mandatory nature" and starts with a statement that there is a quasi-consensus on the non-mandatory nature of the convention. The historical background and the positions of some Contracting Parties are presented in different places. This note again called "non mandatory nature" like the entire point 1. of which it is a sub-part describes the position of contracting parties which consider the Service	PB: The PB agrees that the structure of the Handbook could continue to be improved. The PB notes the suggestion made by the European Union and seeks the WG's advice on the need to provide further clarification on the non-mandatory and exclusive nature of the Convention.

				Convention as mandatory. And the rest will finally basically repeat what has already been stated above.
Relevant text in revised Handbook A note about service			93. The term "service" generally refers to the delivery of judicial and / or extrajudicial documents to the addressee, and the degree of formality of delivery varies from State to State. Service can be achieved through different methods in accordance with a State's internal law (e.g., placing documents in the letter box, handing the document to someone present in a place with certain conditions, notifying documents to a third party designated by the respondent. Service of a document is a key component to the right to a fair trial, and in particular, the right to be informed that judicial proceedings have commenced or that a decision has been made.
К	32	Para. 93 [Para. 90]	Canada	This note is important and could be set out in its own section.	PB: The PB thanks Canada for this suggestion and welcome's the WG's views on the presentation of this topic in the Handbook.
K	33	Para. 93 [Para. 90]	European Union	We also question the position of this note in the Handbook, as it is not related to the chapter dedicated to the exclusive nature of the convention. This question should be discussed in the Working Group.	PB: The PB brings to the attention of the WG a comment made by the European Union and seeks the WG's advice as to the structure of the chapter and the position of the text currently sitting under the heading "A note about the Concept of Service".
				279. The Convention has significantly shortened the time for execution of requests for service transmitted from abroad. However, there are still cases where execution of the request takes too long (in some cases up to a year).
Relevant text in revised Handbook Time of execution				281. The Convention itself does not set a time-limit within which the request for service is to be performed. However, the Request Form, which is a part of the Model Form annexed to the Convention, states that the applicant (forwarding authority) requests "prompt" service. Article 6(2) of the Convention also requires the Certificate, which is the reverse side of the Form, to include the date of service.

К	34	Para. 279 [Para. 271]	Canada		der starting with the text from para. 273 (now raph 281)	PB: The PB notes the comment made by Canada and advises this rearrangement can be done following the SC.
					As with previous meetings, the Special Commissi or commercial matters" be interpreted liberally helpfully added that this term should be applied Service and 1970 Evidence Conventions.	and in an autonomous manner, and
					148. In addition, the Special Commission welcomed the flexible practice followed by Contracting Parties of not refusing to execute requests based solely on the entity making the request and to focus instead on the substantive nature of the matter referred to in the request.
				Curre	nt practice
		ext in revised Hand I or commercial	lbook		The liberal trend initiated by the Appellate Conformany in 1989 has been confirmed. In 1992 brought before a United States court for punitive 1965 Service Convention's subject-matter, even exorbitant, in its opinion. The disputed merit of the criterion to distinguish civil matters from those that as claims in damages brought in the United Statewise, the Appellate Court of Celle (Germany) based on the RICO-Act of the United States was Article 1(1) of the Convention, and should there Germany.	the same Court held that an action a damages is within the scope of the n though the amounts claimed are claim cannot serve as an appropriate at are matters for criminal law, insofar states are frequently not quantified. held that a claim for treble damages a civil matter within the meaning of
			150. Swiss case law seems to be evolving in the same direction. The Cantonal Court Fribourg held that an enforcement instrument is a judicial document for the purpos of the Convention in any event where the prosecution relates to a receivable unprivate law.
			151. The Supreme Court of the Netherlands (Hoge Raad) reached the same conc held that bankruptcy law was a matter within the scope of the Convention matter. The Advocate-General's conclusion, to which the grounds for t expressly refer, is based on an autonomous interpretation of the Convention		ne scope of the Convention's subject which the grounds for that ruling
			152. This brief review of case law suggests that the recommendations from the meetings of the Special Commission have been followed. The judges and Central Authorities of the

				Contracting Parties seem more often than not to make an autonomous, or at le liberal, interpretation of the concept of civil or commercial.	ast
				153. In this respect, it should be pointed out that several supranational courts have sou to provide an "autonomous" interpretation of the treaties within their jurisdiction. instance, the Court of Justice of the European Union, construing the phrase "civil a commercial matters" in the 1968 Brussels Convention (now superseded by the Bruss la Regulation) provided general criteria that as a first step, regard should be had to objectives and scheme of the Convention, and secondly to the general principles who stem from the corpus of the national legal systems. Further, the Court indicated the where a public authority was acting in the exercise of its powers, this would not be corpus commercial.	For and els the ich
				154. The absence of a supranational court as "guardian" of the uniform interpretation of Convention emphasises the crucial importance of communication and exchange between the authorities in charge of the Convention's application; such interaction is basic condition to secure, as far as possible, a harmonious implementation of Convention. Autonomous interpretation remains the best way of achieving this goal.	ges s a the
L	35	Paras 147-154 [paras 142- 149]	China	adopts a broader interpretation to the term "civil or commercial" and recommend the Contracting Parties to endeavour for applying the Convention to these matters to the greatest extent possible. We recommend both Handbacks taking a similar positive interpretation of "civil a commercial matters" will be furt developed in a Prelimin Document to the SC. The PB	and 165 nce the and her ary will and the rice delegates may have.
	Relevant text in revised Handbook The Service Section (HCCH Website)			The Service Section

				The Permanent Bureau maintains a section of the HC 1965 Service Convention (the Service Section). The Suseful and up-to-date information on the practical opera	ervice Section provides a wealth of the full text of the Convention (in the three office French and Spanish – as well as translations into an updated list of Contracting Parties (status tab 	ole) the name and contact details of each Central Autl Party (noting that some federal States have designed) the name of all other authorities designated by particular functions under the Convention 	y each Contracting Party to perform
				 Country Profiles for all Contracting Parties
				 fillable multilingual Model Forms in English, Fren 	ich, Spanish and a fourth language explanatory material on the Convention, including the recommendation to add a Warning and the accompanying Explanatory Report
				- the instructions for filling out the Model Form documentation relating to the meetings of the Special Commission, including Conclusions & Recommendations and responses to Questionnaires prepared by the Permanent Bureau, and a link to this Handbook. In this regard, it is worth noting that this Handbook is widely cited and referred to by courts of Contracting Parties as a useful source of information.35
L	36	Para. 33 [Para. 32]	European Union	We also wonder how this information will be articulated with the country profiles, which are not available on the website at the moment.	PB: The Country Profiles will be available as Preliminary Documents for the meeting of the SC. The PB has also updated the text of the Service Handbook to reflect the information contained in the Country Profiles.
					The PB will reflect any discussions and changes made to the Country

					Profile in the text of the Service Handbook.
L	37	General comment	European Union	In general, we recommend a thorough discussion of the use of electronic means of communication in the handbook. The Handbook should not in our view promote the use of emails and clouds for the transmission of requests, in view of the very serious security and data protection concerns, but rather the use of secure IT systems. For example, transmission of requests between authorities of Contracting Parties by simple email should not be presented as a good practice. Only transmissions through a secure IT system should be encouraged. The requirements in terms of data protection and security should be systematically pointed out. This comment applies to all paragraphs where the Handbook refers to the use of email and electronic means of communication.	PB: The use of IT-Business methods for the transmission and execution of requests under the 1965 Service and 1970 Evidence Conventions is the subject of a specific Preliminary Document, currently being drafted by the PB. The use of technology is also in the agenda for discussion at the meeting of the SC. The PB will reflect any discussions and recommendations adopted by the SC in the text of the Service Handbook.
L	38	General comment	European Union	The same comment applies to the use of online translation tools, in terms of security and data protection safeguards (Para 30).	PB: see comment above.
Relevant text in revised Handbook What should the request for service include and how is it to be transmitted to the Central Authority?			de and how is it to	What should the request for service include and how is it to be transmitted to the Central Authority? The request for service transmitted to the Central Authority must: 1) comply with the Model Form annexed to the Convention (see questions 11 to 13); and 2) be accompanied by the documents to be served (the list of documents to be served is to be determined according to the law of the Requesting State; regarding formalities connected with the documents to be served, see question 14). The Convention does not specify the method for sending the request to the Central Authority. Postal channels are commonly used (ordinary mail, registered mail with acknowledgment of receipt, express mail, private courier service, etc.). However, electronic transmission, where it can be used, is strongly encouraged. Electronic transmission is especially relevant when the document to be served is electronic, and / or when the service will be effected electronically. Certain Central Authorities do accept receipt of requests by fax, e-mail, and secure online platform. To determine what method can be used, it is advisable to consult the relevant information available in the Country Profile in the first instance. If there is still doubt, forwarding authorities are encouraged to contact the relevant Central Authority to determine in advance the methods for transmission of requests that it accepts. For further details, see paragraphs 211 and 212.

L	39	FAQ 10	Canada	Regarding "However, electronic transmission, where it can be used, is strongly encouraged." What is the source of this encouragement? The Special Commission C&R? I think the encouragement would have more weight if there was a reference to the source.	PB: see comment above.
L	40	FAQ 10	European Union	We suggested in a general comment above clarifying the question of the use of electronic means, or adding a reference to a para where it is clarified. There are certain conditions that should be explained, such as, that the forwarding authority and the requested authority have agreed in advance, that the security of the transmission as well as the required level of data protection is guaranteed.	PB: see comment above.
May the d	Relevant text in revised Handbook May the documents to be served be sent directly to the addressee through postal channels?			May the documents to be served be sent directly to the addressee through postal channels? Under Article 10(a), judicial documents may be served by sending them directly to the addressee abroad through postal channels. Forwarding authorities should have regard to the following considerations prior to opting for service through postal channels: 1) whether the conditions set by the law of the State of origin (lex fori) for valid service by mail are met; and 2) whether the State of destination has objected to this channel of transmission (the table of declarations of objection made under Article 10(a) should be consulted on the Service Section of the HCCH website).
				There is no doubt that the reference to postal channels includes the sending of letters by ordinary mail, registered post and registered post with acknowledgment of receipt. There is also an increased tendency by users of the Convention to engage private couriers under "postal channels". In addition, due to the technological neutrality of the Convention, "postal channels" could be construed as including service by esent by postal agencies. (However, Contracting Parties here a more detailed analysis of service by mail, see para	nave divergent views on this topic.)

L	41	FAQ 26	European Union	We don't agree with the following sentence: "In addition, due to the technological neutrality of the convention, "postal channels" may be construed as including service by email to the extent that documents are sent by postal agencies." Given the absence of consensus on that point, we would suggest presenting postal service by email as a discussed practice.	PB: see comment above.
					PB: This statement is not based on a C&R of the SC but has rather been extracted from former Annex 8 of the Service Handbook.
L	42	FAQ 26	Canada	Is this statement the result of a Conclusion and Recommendation of a Special Commission? It would be good to have the source of this statement.	The use of IT-Business methods for the transmission and execution of requests under the 1965 Service and 1970 Evidence Conventions is the subject of a specific Preliminary Document, currently being drafted by the PB. The use of technology is also in the agenda for discussion at the meeting of the SC.
					FAQ 26 could possibly be amended following the discussions of the SC. The PB welcomes the WG's views.
				Does Article 1(2) include the electronic address (e-mail) of the addressee?
El	Relevant text in revised Handbook Electronic address (email) of the addressee			Today, using electronic communication technologies, the concept of address has taken on an entirely new dimension. Does the term used in Article 1(2) include the addressee's electronic address? It would seem that it does not. An e-mail address alone would seem incapable of allowing an authority to determine whether there is occasion to transmit a document abroad to another Contracting Party to the Convention and whether the Convention applies.

				For instance, what is the effect of an electronic address that does not include any geographical nexus (e.g., miller@yahoo.com, miller@gmail.com), thus not allowing to determine whether the transmission is made to another State Party? Furthermore, the addressee may use an address with a geographical extension (e.g., .us, .nl, .ch, .fr) even though the addressee is not resident in that State or has never been there; or they may have acquired the address while they were travelling through that State but otherwise have no connection at all with that State – can this be sufficient to trigger the application of the Convention? In addition, are States ready to accept the validity of service at an electronic address only, having regard in particular to the protection of defendants under Article 15?
L	43	Para. 169 [Para. 164]	Australia	We note the question at the end of the paragraph of whether an electronic address is sufficient to fulfil the requirements the Convention. In this regard, while we would be interested in exploring the topic further, we do note the discussion in paras 26 and 27 of Annex 8 of the current (4th) edition of the Service Handbook, explaining why an interpretation that views the email as sufficient may be difficult to reconcile with the other requirements of the Convention, including whether there is occasion to transmit abroad.	PB: The PB has amended the text in the Service Handbook and will reflect any discussions and recommendations adopted by the SC in the text of the Service Handbook.
L	44	Para. 169 [Para. 164]	Canada	Is there text missing here? After "Does Article 1(2) include the electronic means (e-mail) of the addressee?	PB: As above – Australia comments and response.
L	45	Para. 169 [Para. 164]	China	We would like to indicate that in order to provide the greatest possible assistance under China's domestic law, and taking into account the fact that China's domestic law permits electronic service of process subject to the certain provisions, in cases where requesting State could only provide the e-mail address of the addressee, the competent authority of China will not directly refuse assistance on the grounds that the address is not known. Instead, it will be served by the Chinese court in accordance with the Convention and domestic law	PB: As above – Australia comments and response.

				This note is empty, and we are not sure of the question
L	46	Para. 169 [Para. 164]	European Union	addressed (whether the Convention does not apply if the email address is not known, or whether the Convention should apply when the email address is known?).	PB : As above – Australia comments and response.
	Relevant text in revised Handbook References to the cloud			Forwarding authorities may either issue requests for service in electronic form using a digital signature, or may convert paper requests for service into electronic form by scanning and subsequently signing them digitally. Forwarding authorities may then transmit requests for service by electronic means to the Central Authority of the Requested State. Following receipt, the Central Authority may, if necessary, print the request. Upon receipt, the Central Authority will process the request for service in a manner that is consistent with its domestic law.
					PB: This reference, along with the sentence, has been deleted.
L	47	Para. 214 [Para. 207]	European Union	References to the "cloud" should be avoided, in view of the strong security and data protection related concerns. There are different ways to share and store an electronic request, and the Handbook should rather recommend the use of a secure IT system for the transmission of requests.	The use of technology, including the electronic transmission of requests will be further developed in a Preliminary Document for the meeting of the SC.
					Relevant discussions and recommendations adopted by the SC can also be incorporated in the text of the Service Handbook.
	Relevant text in revised Handbook Postal channels & e-service			Under Article 10(a) of the Convention, provided a State of destination has not objected it will be possible to send judicial documents by postal channels directly to persons abroad. Pursuant to this channel, if all the relevant conditions are fulfilled, transmission of the documents through postal channels includes service of process on the addressee. While this Article would appear to provide an easy pathway for service, there are a number of issues to consider, including (importantly) effective service.
L	48	Para. 361 [Para. 353]	China	In the Annex 8 of the 4 th edition of the Handbook, it discussed the e-Service under the alternative channels of transmission. In particular, the service by e-mail pursuant to the Article 10(a) of the Convention. Unfortunately, it seems to be deleted in the current	PB: see comment above.

				version. We want to take this opportunity to emphasize that with the development of information technology, email service is an inevitable topic when discussing the operation of the postal channels. Therefore, we suggest to retain the discussion of the e-mail service in the Annex8 of the 4 th edition and put it into the Section iv. Postal Channel of the current consultation version.
		Davis 201		What's more, we would also like to provide a case related to the e-mail service in which the United States District Court Southern District of New York ruled in July 2022 that it was unlawful for a plaintiff to serve a defendant in China by e-mail. It invokes Article 11 of the Minutes of the National Symposium on Foreign-related Commercial and Maritime Trial Work provides guidance for Chinese courts serving litigants outside of China. Those minutes state:
L	49	Para. 361 [Para. 353]	China	In the event that the country where the person to be served is located is a member state of the Hague Service Convention and objects to the service by mail under the Convention, it shall be presumed that the country does not allow electronic service, and the people's court shall not adopt electronic service.	PB: see comment above.
				We would appreciate it if you can invoke the above minutes and introduce that case in the Handbook. Please kindly find the MEMORANDUM OPINION AND ORDER in the attachment.
	Relevant text in revised Handbook Direct communication 10(c)			Article 10(c) of the Convention allows any person interested in a judicial proceeding to effect service of judicial documents directly through a judicial officer, official or other competent person of the State of destination. This service can be effected by electronic means [when it is allowed by the applicable law in the Requesting State and] provided that the law of the State of destination allows it. Each Contracting Party may declare an opposition to this method of transmission (Art. 21(2)(a)). The declarations of opposition made by Contracting Parties are included in the status table of the Convention on the HCCH website. The comments made above with respect to Article 10(b), and in particular the special position of the United Kingdom and the practice in Hong Kong SAR, apply mutatis mutandis to Article 10(c). As noted above in paragraph 387, the Special Commission has recommended contacting the authorities of the receiving State in order to identify to whom the request should be sent.

L	50	Para. 394 [Para. 388]	Canada		PB: The PB has amended the text in the Service Handbook and seeks the WG's advice on the need to further develop this topic.

Annexe III : Ordre du jour de la réunion du Groupe de travail sur le Manuel pratique Preuves

WG EVIDENCE PRACTICAL HANDBOOK MAY 2024 AGENDA

Working Group on the Evidence Practical Handbook and Country Profile

Meeting of 21 May 2024

DRAFT AGENDA

At its 2024 meeting, the Council on General Affairs and Policy (CGAP) approved the establishment of a Working Group (WG) consisting of representatives from a variety of geographical regions to review and refine updates to the Practical Handbook and Country Profile relevant to the Convention of 18 March 1970 on the Taking of Evidence Abroad in Civil or Commercial Matters (Evidence Convention) (C&D No 47 of CGAP 2024). The WG will meet online for the first time on Tuesday 21 May to discuss the Revised Draft Evidence Handbook and then on Tuesday 28 May to discuss the Country Profile.

The session on Tuesday 21 May begins at 1.00 p.m. (CEST) and ends at 5.00 p.m., with a tea break from 2.00 to 2.15 p.m.

The WG has been provided with:

- (i) the current version of the Evidence Handbook, reflecting comments and suggestions made by Contracting Parties;
- three tables of comments; and (ii)
- (iii) the previous consultation version of the Evidence Handbook.

The key documents that will be used during the meeting are the agenda, Table 1, and the current version of the Evidence Handbook.

The WG will report on this meeting and on any recommendations for the Evidence Handbook at the July 2024 meeting of the Special Commission (SC) on the Practical Operation of the 1965 Service, 1970 Evidence and 1980 Access to Justice Conventions. Following the meeting of the SC, the WG will reconvene online to discuss further updates that may be needed to be made to the Evidence Handbook. It is anticipated that this second meeting of the WG could be scheduled in late August / early September 2024.

Delegations may have other issues which they wish to address and, as such, this agenda will be treated with a degree of flexibility and may be modified in accordance with the requirements of the discussion.

Delegations may submit Working Documents (WD) on the text of the Handbook for discussion during the meeting. However, it is recommended that WDs be submitted in advance of the meeting so that they may be circulated to all WG members by the PB prior to the meeting.

Tuesday 2:	1 May 2024
	Time
The Hague	Buenos Aires	Hong Kong	ltem
1.00 p.m.	8.00 a.m.	7.00 p.m.	Opening remarks, introduction of WDs submitted to the WG, and administrative matters
			Appointment of the Chair
			Adoption of the Agenda
			A) Delay for the execution of Letters of Request under the Convention
			Item No 1 of Table 1, in response to a suggestion made by the European Union.
			B) Use of electronic signature to sign Letters of Requests and other documents
			Items Nos 2 and 3 of Table 1, in response to a suggestion made by Brazil.
			C) Taking of evidence under Chapter II and costs
			Item No 4 of Table 1, in response to a comment from the European Union.
			D) Direct taking of evidence by video-link under Chapter I
			Item No 5 of Table 1, in response to a comment from the European Union.
2.00 p.m.	9.00 a.m.	8.00 p.m.	Tea Break (15 min)
2.15 p.m.	9.15 a.m.	8.15 p.m.	E) Taking of evidence by video-link under Chapter II
			Item No 6 of Table 1, in response to a comment made by the European Union.
			F) Terminology
			Blue-pencilling: item Nos 7 and 8 of Table 1, in response to comments and suggestions made by Canada and the European Union.
			Moving party: item No 9 of Table 1, in response to a suggestion made by the European Union.

G) Use of technology

The WG will discuss items No 10-12 of Table 1. These comments and suggestions refer to topics that will be addressed by the SC.

H) Judicial Authority - Administrative Authority

Item 13 of Table 1, seeking input from WG on examples of administrative authorities that are covered by the term "judicial authority", in response to a suggestion made by the European Union.

I) Not supplying Model Form

Item 14 of Table 1, seeking input from WG on whether to include a point that a request may not be rejected on the sole basis that the Model Form has not been used, in response to a suggestion made by the European Union.

J) Other matters

WG Members are also invited to raise any points they wish to discuss.

Annexe IV: Tableau des co travail sur le Manuel pratiqu		la discussion du Groupe de
travail sur le manuel pratique	ac i icuves

Practical Handbook on the Operation of the Evidence Convention

Please note that in the first column indicating the paragraph and/or footnote reference, the reference in brackets is the reference from the consultation version of the Handbook. The reference above it is the reference in the new, amended version of the Handbook.

	Table 1 Comments and Feedback for Discussion of the WG
Agend a item	Referenc e Number	Paragraph Footnote Number	Contractin g Party, incl. REIOs	Comment	Action / Notes
Relevant	Relevant text in revised Handbook:			346. Letters of Request must be executed expeditiously (A	urt. 9(3)).
Topic tim	ing for execut	ion
А	1	Para. 346	European Union	We believe that the Handbook should be more ambitious and call for suggesting a goal shorter than 6 months for execution of Letters of Request. We would propose to add a footnote with an example of the deadlines provided for in Article 12(1) of the 2020 EU Evidence Regulation – "The requested court shall execute the request without delay and, at the latest, within 90 days of receipt of the request."
Relevant text in revised Handbook: Electronic transmission of Letters of Request.			equest.	196. If a requesting authority wishes to issue a Letter of F file),¹ it should check with the Central Authority in Request will be accepted.² Although the Central Authority to legalisation or any other similar formality to deference source not found.), and although the Co	the Requested State that the Letter of prity may not subject the Letter of Request etermine its authenticity (para. Error! R

Whether a Letter of Request may be issued in electronic form is a matter for the law of the Requesting State (Art. 1(1)): see paras Error! Reference source not found. Error! Reference source not found. Error! Reference source not found. Error! Reference source not found.

For some Contracting Parties, the Central Authority may be willing to accept an electronic Letter of Request, but the executing authority (i.e., the requested authority) may require the Letter of Request to be in paper form. In these circumstances, it may be sufficient for the Central Authority to print out the Letter of Request and transmit it to the requested authority. If the requested authority requires the Letter of Request to be in a paper form and to bear the seal of the requesting authority, the Central Authority may request the requesting authority to reissue the Letter of Request accordingly.

				Request to be in a particular form (para. Error! Reference of the Letter of Requestion identity of the requesting authority can be readily Convention itself does not stipulate that the request provides for a signature and seal of the requesting that consideration be given to data protection and seal	t using an electronic signature so that the verified. It should be noted that the be signed or sealed, but the Model Form authority. In addition, it is recommended
В	2	Para. 196 [Para. 197]	Brazil	We suggest that, regardless of being a paper or an electronic letter of request, an electronic signature should be accepted, as long as it can be easily verified, and thus no wet signature or seal should be required.	PB: The PB appreciates the suggestion made by Brazil and refers this point to the WG for discussion.
Relevant text in revised Handbook: Authenticity of the Letter of Request				464. As noted at paragraph Error! Reference source not four Letter of Request to be legalised or subjected to simunder the 1961 Apostille Convention). Accordingly, to execute a Letter of Request on grounds alone that established. The drafters of the Convention were of Request emanates from a judicial authority of the presumed. If the requested authority has doubts Request, it should resolve the issue directly with the issued the Letter of Request. As noted in paragraph Elequested authority has doubts as to whether the I "judicial authority", it may contact the Central Authority of the authority.	hilar formality (Art. 3(3)) (e.g., an Apostille he requested authority may not refuse to at its authenticity has not been formally of the view that as long as the Letter of a State of origin, its authenticity will be as to the authenticity of the Letter of the requesting authority that purportedly the Error! Reference source not found., if the reletter of Request has been issued by a
В	3	Para. 464 [Para. 461]	Brazil	We suggest that, regardless of being a paper or an electronic letter of request, an electronic signature should be accepted, as long as it can be easily verified, and thus no wet signature or seal should be required.	PB: see comment above.

See, e.g., Art. 263 of the Code of Civil Procedure of Brazil, in force as of 2016, which provides for the issuance of letters rogatory using an electronic signature. See also Regulation (EU) No. 910/2014 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 23 July 2014 on electronic identification and trust services for electronic transactions in the internal market and repealing Directive 1999/93/EC which provides the conditions for the acceptance of electronic signatures and seals.

Report of the 1968 SC (op. cit. note Error! Bookmark not defined.), p. 59.

Relevant text in revised Handbook: Costs				542. The Convention does not explicitly address costs related to the taking of evidence. In the case of Consuls may be required by the law of their State to related to the taking of evidence. In the case of Consultant I aw or by the terms of the commission. The are generally borne by the party seeking the evidence by the State of execution for compulsion, that State in for the giving of permission or granting of an applicate Examples include the costs associated with the use is to be used, such as a courtroom, or other administration.	collect fees for the services they provide Commissioners, costs are determined by costs of taking evidence under Chapter II be to be taken. Where costs are incurred may require reimbursement as a condition tion for assistance (as the case may be). of the facilities where a specific location
С	4	Para. 542 [Para. 539]	European Union	With regards to the fourth sentence of the paragraph, it is up to the State of origin to determine whether the costs of taking evidence under Chapter II must be borne by the parties.	PB: The PB appreciates the suggestion made by the European Union and notes that this sentence has been taken from the Report of the 1968 SC. The PB refers this point to the WG for discussion, especially as to the need to revisit the conclusions drawn in the Report of the 1968 SC.
Relevant text in revised Handbook: Video-link				100. With regard to the legal basis of using video-link und nor letter of the Convention constitutes an obstacle

In the United States, the schedule for fees for consular services is set out in 22 CFR 22.1 (this Schedule promulgates fees for judicial assistance services in both Convention and non-Convention contexts).

See Explanatory Report, para. 162. For example, in England, the fees for a Commissioner are set out in Practice Direction 34B.

See, Report of the 1968 SC (op. cit. note Error! Bookmark not defined.), p. 72.

⁸ This is contemplated in the Explanatory Report, para. 163.

Response of Switzerland to Part VII, q. (w) of the 2017 Country Profile Questionnaire (op. cit. Glossary).

oper	ration of the Convention can benefit from their use.10
	se of video-link is permissible in both the execution of a Letter of Request urne execution of a request under Chapter II of the Convention. $^{ m 11}$	nder Chapter I to obt The re provid	Chapter I, a judicial authority of a Contracting Party may request another Conain evidence. The competent authority in the Requested State conducts the equesting authority may request a special method or procedure to be follow les for a Contracting Party to permit evidence to be taken in its territory Inssioners.	examination. ed. Chapter II
103. In pai	rticular, video-link may be used:
	to facilitate the presence and possibly also the participation of the p proceedings, their representatives, and judicial personnel at the taking of e
b.	to facilitate the actual taking of the evidence (both direct and indirect taking	g of evidence).
104. The taking of evidence abroad using video-link was discussed by the Special Commismeetings in 2009 and 2014. The Special Commission concluded that video-link couto assist in the taking of evidence under the Convention, as set out in the following to		could be used
	Situation	Articles of the Convention

See C&R No 4 of the 2003 SC. See also, e.g., C&R No 55 of the 2009 SC and C&R No 20 of the 2014 SC. 43. Contracting Parties remain divided as to whether the Convention is of a mandatory character (i.e., whether the Convention needs to be applied whenever evidence is to be taken abroad, be it in person or by video-link) (for detailed discussion on the mandatory / non-mandatory nature of the Convention, see paras Errorl Reference source not found. et seq.). This division of views notwithstanding, the Special Commission has recommended that C ontracting Parties give priority to the Convention when evidence abroad is being sought (principle of first resort). Further, having resort to the Convention or other applicable treaties is generally consistent with the provisions of blocking statutes (for detailed discussion on blocking statutes, see paras Errorl Reference source not found.-Errorl Reference source not found.). In response to the 2022 Questionnaire, most of the Contracting Parties indicated that they allow video link in the taking of evidence under Chapter I of the Convention. These Contracting Parties are: Albania, Andorra, Australia, Brazil, Croatia, Czech Republic, Estonia, Finland, France, Georgia, China (Hong Kong and Macao SARs), Hungary, Israel, Italy, Kazakhstan, Latvia, Montenegro, Nicaragua, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Slovakia, Slovenia, Sweden, Netherlands, Türkiye, the United Kingdom and Viet Nam. In certain other States, such as Switzerland, video link in the taking of evidence under Chapter I of the Convention is not completely excluded, but it is determined by the requested judge on a case-by-case basis. As for Chapter II, in response to the 2022 Questionnaire, the majority of the Contracting Parties indicated that they allow the taking of evidence by video-link under Chapter II. These Contracting Parties are: Albania, Finland, France, Georgia, Germany, Hungary, Italy, Lithuania, Montenegro, Norway, Portugal, Slovakia, Sweden, Switzerland, the United Kingdom and the United States.

	Presence and participation at the execution of the Letter of Request Where the parties to the proceedings, their representatives and possibly also their judicial personnel of the requesting authority are located in the Requesting State and wish to be present by video-link during the taking of testimony and possibly also participate in the examination of the witness.
Chapter I	 Video-link established between: location in the Requesting State (e.g., premises of the requesting authority); and location where the Letter of Request is being executed (e.g., courtroom in the Requested State). Competent Authority in the Requested State (i.e., the requested authority) conducts the examination following the methods and procedure under the law of the Requested State, subject to any special method or procedure requested by the requesting authority.¹² 	Chapter I (Arts 7, 8 and 9)
	Situation	Articles of the Convention
Chapter II	Testimony taken by Consul or Commissioner ¹³ Where the Consul representing the State of origin exercising their functions in the State of execution, or a duly appointed Commissioner uses video-link to take testimony of a person located in the State of execution.	Chapter II (Arts 15, 16, 17 and 21)

The 2014 meeting of the Special Commission on the practical operation of the HCCH 1965 Service, 1970 Evidence and 1980 Access to Justice Conventions did not specifically discuss the direct taking of evidence under Chapter I of the 1970 Evidence Convention, i.e., where the requesting authority requests that the examination be conducted by a judge of the Requesting State as a special procedure. This is distinct from the judge conducting the examination as an appointed Commissioner under Chapter II.

Under Art. 33 of the Convention, a Contracting Party may exclude, in whole or in part, the application of Chapter II. To view the declarations or reservations made by a particular Contracting Party, see the status table for the 1970 Evidence Convention, in column entitled "Res/D/N/DC".

	Video-link established between:
	 location where the Consul is stationed (e.g., embassy or consulate in the State of execution) or where Commissioner operates (e.g., courtroom in the State of origin); and location of witness in the State of execution (e.g., office or courtroom).
	Consul or Commissioner conducts the examination in accordance with its own law and procedure unless forbidden by the law of the State of execution.
	A member of the judicial personnel of the court of origin (or other duly appointed person) acting as a Commissioner under Art. 17, who is located in one Contracting Party, may examine a person located in another Contracting Party by video-link.
or Internal actice	Other methods of taking of evidence A Contracting Party may permit, by internal law or practice, methods of taking of evidence other than those provided for in the Convention.	Arts 27(c)
Other treaties or Internal law or practice	The Convention does not derogate from other conventions containing provisions regarding the taking of evidence abroad.	and 32
that	ence may be taken "directly" or "indirectly" using video-link depending on the is taking the evidence. This is not only a semantic distinction, but one that has sequences in practice.
	eneral, existing instruments provide for the use of video-link to examine witnes yo ways, "directly" and "indirectly":
a.	the authority before which proceedings are pending (or a member of judicial of that authority or a representative) conducts the witness examination by vide the permission and assistance of an authority of the State in whose territory is located – in this sense, evidence is taken "directly" by video-link; ²⁰⁸ and	eo-link with the witness
b.	an authority of the State in whose territory the witness is located conducts examination and permits the requesting court (as well as the parties and po

F
				representatives) to be "present" at and poss examination by video-link – in this sense, evident
				107. However, the 1970 Evidence Convention makes no of direct taking of evidence under Chapter I, having technology and global air travel were at earlier stage evidence was the norm. In addition, the drafters Chapter II evidence would eventually be taken by State of origin using video-link.	g been drafted at a time when computer es of development, and indirect taking of a could not have envisaged that under
				108. With regard to the direct taking of evidence under the Convention, and without the use of video-link, a questallows for this under Chapter I. While the direct taking II, it is debatable whether it would be permitted unstrict reading of Article 1 of the Convention, Chapter of evidence as it specifically provides that a judic request the competent authority of another Consequently, while some Contracting Parties allowed the same considerity of evidence exceeds the scope of Chapter I of the Consequence of the Consequen	stion arises as to whether the Convention of evidence is permitted under Chapter der Chapter I of the Convention. From a I would not appear to allow direct taking ial authority of a Contracting Party may Contracting Party to obtain evidence. direct taking of evidence under Chapter I, tacle and therefore that the direct taking
D	5	General comment	European Union	Where it comes to the differentiation between direct and indirect taking of evidence under Chapter I, we would like to point out that the current Handbook was quite vague on direct taking of evidence and stated cautiously that direct taking of evidence might be requested for as special proceedings under Article 9 (2) of the Convention (para 220). Now the Handbook – for the first time differentiates between direct and indirect taking of evidence (para 105-118) – and gives this differentiation a lot of room. The matter was first discussed broadly during the Working Group on the Video-Link guide and therefore all explanations refer to the taking of evidence by video-link and the question has been discussed in that Guide with relation to videoconferencing only. The 2017 questionnaire	PB: The PB has amended the text in the Practical Handbook and added specific references to stress that the direct taking of evidence is relating to videolink. The PB seeks the WG's views as to whether further changes and clarifications are needed.

of the Hague Conference also only relates to direct taking of evidence by video link under Chapter I.
For some Member States that do not allow evidence being taken directly under Chapter I it remains unclear how exactly direct evidence could be taken under Chapter I. If the assumption is correct that direct taking of evidence under Chapter I is only discussed in relation to the use of video-link, this should be clarified in the Handbook and especially should be made clearer in Chapter III.2. (in particular paras 105-108) as well as in paragraphs 281 and 286 et seq.
If it is however intended to expand Chapter I to direct taking of evidence some arguments should be provided. This matter should be discussed at this year's Special Commission.

Relevant text in revised Handbook: Use of video-link				477. Other alternative scenarios may include, for exageographically large areas) in which a Consul or examine a witness located at a (distant) location State of execution. In some rare cases, anothe envisaged, in which a Consul or Commissioner is nor the State of execution, but in a third State (with taking evidence of the witness / expert physi (e.g., where the diplomatic mission of the State execution is located in a third State, see para. It elow). Presumably in most such cases the Consul the evidence, but it is possible that in some case video-link.	Commissioner could use video-link to which is nonetheless still within the or (albeit unlikely) scenario could be located neither in the State of origin a Contracting Party), and is charged cally located in the State of execution of origin accredited to the State of Error! Reference source not found. b or Commissioner would travel to take
E	6	Para. 477 [Para. 474]	European Union	We are sceptical if all Contracting Parties can agree to the hypothesis that a Consul or Commissioner located in a Contracting Party other than the Requesting or Requested State could be required to execute a Letter of Request. This may in particular be problematic if the Requesting State has a consular or diplomatic representation / mission in the Requested State – in that case Consuls and Commissioners of the Requesting State located in a Contracting Party other than the Requested State should not be competent to take evidence in the Requested State. In addition, where a third State is involved in the execution of the Letter of Request, its prior permission should be sought for reasons of sovereignty, but also because that other Contracting Party may have objected to the application of all or part of Chapter II of the Convention. This is also relevant for Para 475.	PB: The PB appreciates the comment made by the European Union and notes that this paragraph has been extracted from the Videolink Guide. Therefore, the PB refers this point to the WG for discussion.

Relevant text in revised Handbook: Glossary: Blue-pencilling				Blue-pencilling The act of modifying or limiting a Letter of Request to n of the 1970 Evidence Convention, or executable follow the law of the Requested State. Blue-pencilling is usual of the Requested State or the requested authority.	ving the methods and procedures of
F	7	Glossary (Blue- pencilling)	European Union	We are wondering if it would not be more understandable if instead of using the term "blue-pencilling" the following would be used in the main text of the Handbook: "modifying or limiting".	PB: The PB appreciates the suggestion made by the European Union and notes that this terminology has previously been used in HCCH's publications and on the website. The PB has included some clarification in the Handbook where possible. The PB seeks the WG's advice on the need to further amend the text.
F	8	Para. 178 [Para. 179]	Canada	The term "blue-pencil" is mentioned a few times in the Handbook (paras 179, 261(b), 293, 302, 402, 403, 404, 405). In paras 293 and 402, the following parenthesis accompanies the term "(i.e. modify or limit)". It may be helpful to include that in the first use of the term (i.e. para 179) instead of later on in the document.	PB: see comment above.

Relevant text in revised Handbook: Glossary: Moving Party				Moving party A party that applies to (or petitions) a judicial authority for the 1970 Evidence Convention, this term most common judicial authority for the issuance of a Letter of Reque Request may be executed by application of a party (e.g the term may also refer to that party.	ly refers to the party that applies to a st. In jurisdictions where a Letter of
F	9	Glossary (Moving Party)	European Union	We are wondering if the term "applicant" or "requesting party" instead of "moving party" would not be more understandable.	PB: The PB appreciates the suggestion made by the European Union and refers this point to the WG for discussion.
G	10	General comment	European Union	In general, we recommend a thorough discussion of the use of electronic means of communication in the handbook. The Handbook should not in our view promote the use of emails for the transmission of requests, in view of the very serious security and data protection concerns, but rather the use of secure IT systems. For example, transmission of requests between authorities of Contracting Parties by simple email should not be presented as good practice. Only transmissions through a secure IT system should be encouraged. The requirements in terms of data protection and security should be systematically pointed out. This comment applies to all paragraphs where the Handbook refers to the use of email and electronic means of communication.	PB: The PB will reflect any discussions and recommendations adopted by the SC in the text of the Practical Handbook. The PB would welcome any views of the WG.

Relevant text in revised Handbook: Means of transmission				238. The Convention does not specify the means by which a Letter of Request is to transmitted to the Requested State. In practice, the postal service (ordinary registered mail) or a private courier service is commonly used. In the case electronic Letters of Request (para. Error! Reference source not found.), the Letter Request may be transmitted by e-mail or be uploaded onto a designated onli platform. The Special Commission has encouraged the transmission and receipt Letters of Request by electronic means, adding that consideration should also given to matters of security when evaluating such methods. Similar consideration should also be given to data protection. For more on the execution and transmission of Letters of Request by electronic means, see paragraphs Error! Reference sour not found. et seqError! Reference source not found.	or of of ine ine of be ion
G	11	Para. 238, footnote 368 [Para. 239, footnote 372]	European Union	In light of our general comment at the beginning, we would prefer to see the references to e-mail and designated online platform deleted. PB: see comment above.

The Special Commission encourages the practice of many Contracting Parties in accepting Letters of Request sent by private courier: C&R No 49 of the 2009 SC.

C&R No 39 of the 2014 SC. See also C&R No 49 of the 2009 SC. Art. 3(1) of the 2010 Additional Protocol to the Ibero-American Convention on the Use of Videoconferencing in International Co-operation between Judicial Systems provides for the electronic transmission, provided that the requested Party is able to establish its authenticity") [translation by the Permanent Bureau]. Also, the Medellin Treaty concerning the Electronic Transmission of Requests for International Legal Cooperation between Central Authorities encourages its Contracting Parties to use the electronic platform established by the treaty, "Iber@", to transfer requests for international legal assistance. Also, in the context of the 2020 EU Evidence Regulation, the e-CODEX system is used (see also, Regulation (EU) 2022/850 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 30 May 2022 on a computerised system for the cross-border electronic exchange of data in the area of judicial cooperation in civil and criminal matters (e-CODEX system), and amending Regulation (EU) 2018/1726). For further discussion on these treaties, see paras Errorl Reference source not found. et seq.

Relevant text in revised Handbook: E-mail transmission – Returning documents establishing execution				396. The documents establishing execution may be drawn up in electronic format and transmitted to the requesting authority electronically (e.g., by e-mail), although the law of the Requesting State may require the documents to be in a particular format (e.g., paper). If the requesting authority requires the documents establishing execution to be in a particular format, this should be specified in the Letter of Request or subsequently confirmed with the authorities in the Requested State.
G	12	Para. 396 [Para. 393]	European Union	For the reasons set out in our general comment above, we would prefer to see the reference to e-mail deleted from the first sentence.	PB : see comment above.
				Moreover, we would propose to add that in certain cases, the large number of documents obtained under the Letter of Request may be an obstacle to electronic transmission of documents, given the workload that this could impose a disproportionate administrative burden on the competent authority that sends the documentation.
				In addition, data protection considerations may preclude the electronic transmission of documents where this is not sufficiently secure.
				In addition, depending on the national requirements it may be necessary for the Central Authority to also return the original papers in addition to the electronic sending.

Relevant text in revised Handbook: Judicial authority – administrative authority				144. The term "judicial authority" may extend to certain administrative authorities. The Explanatory Report reveals that the drafters of the Convention could not reach a decision on whether administrative tribunals should be included within the meaning of the term "judicial authority", given the variation in powers and functions of administrative tribunals in the various legal systems. 16 Accordingly, the facts of each case must be examined with reference to the law of the Requesting State, in particular whether the authority exercises, in the case at hand, a function that is of an adjudicatory nature.
Н	13	Para. 144 [Para. 145]	European Union	We believe that adding in a footnote examples of administrative authorities that are covered by the term "judicial authority" would be useful.	The PB seeks input from the WG on examples of administrative authorities.
Relevant text in revised Handbook: Drafting tips for Letters of Request – including the Model Form				158. As much as possible, Letters of Request and their translations should be typed rather than drafted by hand. ¹⁷
I	14	Para. 158 [Para. 159]	European Union	In addition, we believe the addition of a reference to the Model Form in this could be helpful while stressing that the Model Form is not mandatory and a request may not be rejected for the sole reason that the Model form has not been used.

Explanatory Report, para. 254. C&R No 25 of the 2014 SC.