Questionnaire for Contracting Parties to the 1961 Apostille Convention

Please note that not all questions require a response from all Contracting Parties; some are directed only at Contracting Parties that have not implemented one or both components of the e-APP. Likewise, other questions are addressed solely to those who have implemented and operate the e-APP.

I. Implementation of the e-APP

The questions below are intended to identify all Contracting Parties that have implemented one or both components of the e-APP (i.e., those that issue e-Apostilles and/or operate an e-Register). Likewise, for Contracting Parties that have implemented neither component, the questions seek to clarify the stage they have reached in considering the e-APP, as well as the challenges that may be preventing its implementation.

A. First component: e-Apostille

1 Does your State issue e-Apostilles?

- Yes, e-Apostilles have been issued since December 2021
- No, e-Apostilles have not been implemented yet.
If not, please specify:
- We are studying the use of e-Apostilles and plan to implement the e-Apostille component.
Please specify, if relevant: N/A
- We are not currently planning to implement the e-Apostille component.

For Parties that answered “No, e-Apostilles have not been implemented yet”, please answer question 1.1

1.1 What challenges is your State facing that may prevent it from implementing e-Apostilles?

More than one answer is possible.

- Internal law limitations.
- Judicial or administrative structure.
- Implementation challenges (e.g., lack of resources, lack of infrastructure).
- Cost.
- System interoperability / compatibility.
- Security concerns.
- Other – please specify: N/A

If relevant, please explain any of the options above: N/A

2 Regardless of whether your State currently issues e-Apostilles, are your receiving agencies equipped or able to accept and process incoming e-Apostilles (i.e., e-Apostilles issued by other Contracting Parties)?

- Yes, all e-Apostilles can be processed.
- Yes, but on certain conditions – please specify: N/A
- No – please explain why not: N/A
- Unknown.

Please explain further any of the items above, if relevant: Apostilles are not required in order to present documents in the UK.

B. Second component: e-Register

3 Does your State maintain an e-Register?

Yes, an e-Register has been implemented on February 2014

If yes, please indicate any specific features of your e-Register (e.g., whether your State maintains multiple e-Registers, different types of e-Registers for various Competent Authorities, or separate registers for paper and e-Apostilles, etc.): Single e-Register

No, an e-Register has not been implemented yet.

If not, please specify:

We are studying the use of an e-Register and plan to implement the e-Register component.

Please specify, if relevant: N/A

We are not currently planning to implement the e-Register component.

For Parties that answered “No, an e-Register has not been implemented yet”, please answer question 3.1:

3.1 What challenges is your State facing that may prevent it from implementing an e-Register?

More than one answer is possible.

Internal law limitations.

Judicial or administrative structure.

Implementation challenges (e.g., lack of resources, lack of infrastructure).

Cost.

System interoperability / compatibility.

Security concerns.

Other – please specify: N/A

If relevant, please explain any of the options above: N/A

II. Technology and the e-APP (including the use of digital signatures)

The questions below are intended to further understand how Contracting Parties recognise and use electronic or digital signatures, and how electronic public documents interact with the Apostille process, particularly in cases where the e-Apostille component has not yet been implemented.

For the purposes of this questionnaire, an electronic signature is a name, initial, mark or symbol that is affixed to, or logically associated with, a document or other record in electronic form, to evidence the signing of that document or record. A digital signature is a special type of electronic signature which works with encryption technology and can be authenticated using a digital certificate.

4 Under your internal law, for your own domestic public documents, do you recognise electronic / digital signatures as functionally equivalent to handwritten (wet) signatures (i.e., allowing your public documents to be signed electronically)?

Yes, please specify (including whether there are any requirements or technical standards for using electronic / digital signatures): Article 25 of EU Regulation 910/2014 (eIDAS) came into force on 1 July 2016. This regulation was incorporated into UK law by the EU (Withdrawal) Act 2018.

No.

Other – for example, electronic signatures are only permissible for certain categories of documents. Please specify: N/A

Unknown.

For Parties that answered Q.4 affirmatively, please answer question 4.1:

4.1 For incoming electronic public documents (i.e., those issued by other Contracting Parties), does your State impose specific requirements or technical standards for accepting electronic / digital signatures?

- Yes – please specify the applicable requirements or technical standards: N/A
 No.
 Other – please specify: As above, apostilles are not required in order to present documents for use in the UK.
 Unknown.

5 Under your internal law, do foreign electronic public documents have the same probative value as paper public documents?

- Yes – Please specify (including whether your receiving agencies are able to accept and process incoming electronic public documents): N/A
 No.
 It depends – please specify: N/A
 Other – please specify: N/A
 Unknown.

If relevant, please explain further any of the options above: N/A

6 Under your internal law, are public documents executed, or able to be executed, in electronic form (whether or not they are to be used abroad under the 1961 Apostille Convention)?

- Yes, all public documents are executed or able to be executed in electronic form.
 Yes, certain categories of public documents are executed or able to be executed in electronic form.
 No, public documents are never executed in electronic form.

If relevant, please explain any of the options above: Some public documents are only able to be executed in hard copy paper format at present.

For Parties that answered affirmatively and execute, or are able to execute, public documents in electronic form, please answer question 6.1:

6.1 Can electronic public documents issued in your State be verified by foreign receiving agencies?

- Yes – please specify how they can be verified: N/A
 No.
 Other – please specify: N/A
 Unknown.

6.2 If your State executes, or is able to execute, electronic public documents but has not implemented the e-Apostille component, how is an Apostille issued for such electronic documents?

- The public document must first be executed in paper format.
 A hard copy of the electronic public document is printed and a paper Apostille is issued and attached.
 Other – please specify: N/A

III. Issuance of e-Apostilles

The questions below are intended to identify any requirements or conditions that Contracting Parties may impose for issuing e-Apostilles, as well as to understand the procedures followed by the Competent Authorities and how the underlying public document is treated.

- 7 Does your State have any requirements, conditions, or limitations for issuing e-Apostilles? If so, please describe them (e.g., requirements concerning the identity of the applicant; the use of specific platforms or digital solutions for applications; the nature or the form of the underlying public document; etc.).

Yes – please specify: Domestic policy dictates that some UK public documents cannot be submitted in digital format at present.

No.

Please explain further any of the items above, if relevant: Some categories of documents are only valid for official use if presented in original hard copy paper format, and therefore are unable to be submitted in digital format. This policy is dictated by the departments that issue these documents.

- 8 Under your internal law, which of the following formats of public documents are eligible for the issuance of e-Apostilles?

More than one answer is possible.

Electronic public documents.

Paper public documents that have been scanned by a public official.

Paper public documents that have been scanned by applicants.

If relevant, please explain any of the options above: Some paper public documents can be scanned, however they will only be eligible for an e-Apostille once they have been digitally certified and digitally signed by the relevant public official.

- 9 Does your State issue paper Apostilles alongside e-Apostilles?

Yes.

No, we only issue e-Apostilles.

- 9.1 If yes, please indicate the proportion of e-Apostilles issued in comparison to paper Apostilles. If known, provide any specific reasons that may explain the difference in proportions.

1% of apostilles issued in 2025 were e-Apostilles. Whilst this is increasing, we find that customers are hesitant to use the e-Apostille service without a guarantee it will be accepted by the recipient and therefore many users who could get an e-Apostille will default to using the paper based service instead.

- 9.2 If yes, what are the criteria for issuing paper Apostilles versus e-Apostilles (e.g., is the nature or the form of the underlying public document decisive, or can applicants choose between the two formats)?

The criteria is different for e-Apostilles - documents must be in PDF format and contain an Advanced or Qualified electronic signature from a UK public official.

- 9.3 If not, how does your State issue e-Apostilles for paper-based documents?

N/A

10 When issuing e-Apostilles for electronic public documents, does your State preserve the electronic / digital signature of the underlying document?

Yes, the electronic / digital signature is preserved. Please explain how this is done: The public document is attached to a coversheet, which preserves the digital signature on the underlying document

No, only the electronic / digital signature of the e-Apostille is preserved.

If relevant, please explain any of the options above: The coversheet is digitally signed, with the public document and the apostille file both attached to it. This preserves the digital signatures on each document and enables them to be viewed in parallel.

11 When issuing e-Apostilles, how does your Competent Authority complete the standard informational items on the Certificate? Please indicate whether there are any differences compared with issuing paper Apostilles or authenticating paper public documents.

The Competent Authority completes all standard informational items in the same manner as when issuing paper Apostilles or authenticating paper public documents.

The Competent Authority completes the items differently as follows:

- Items 2-4: The name of the public official will be an identical match to the "Common Name" provided on the certificate of the digital signature.
- Items 7 and/or 10: There is no signature belonging to the issuing official in box 10 - instead the e-Apostille contains the departments digital signature in this field but does still list the printed name of the processing officer.

12 In addition to the digital signature, does your e-Apostille include any other security or technical features, such as QR codes, encryption, digital watermarks, or similar measures?

The coversheet itself is digitally signed, and the ability to print is also disabled.

IV. Operation of an e-Register

13 What particulars are contained in your e-Register?

More than one answer is possible.

- Number and date of the Apostille (required).
- Name and capacity of the person signing the document and / or the name of authority whose seal or stamp is affixed (required).
- Name and / or type of underlying document.
- Description of the contents of underlying document.
- Name of the applicant.
- State of destination.
- Copy of the Apostille.
- Copy of the underlying public document.
- Other – please specify: Name of the officer that has issued the apostille

If relevant, please explain any of the options above: N/A

V. Issues with e-Apostilles

The questions below are intended to assess the practical acceptance of e-Apostilles among Contracting Parties to the 1961 Apostille Convention. They aim to identify whether e-Apostilles issued or received by a Contracting Party have ever been refused, the reasons for any such refusals, and the actions taken in response.

14 Has an e-Apostille issued by your Competent Authority ever been refused by the authorities of another Contracting Party?

Unknown.

No.

Yes, please provide any further information, in particular the reasons why the e-Apostille was refused, if known: Recipient was unsure how to access the file. Recipient wanted a hard copy for filing purposes.

15 If an e-Apostille has been rejected, what actions were taken in response?

More than one answer is possible.

A paper Apostille was issued instead.

Contacted the receiving authority.

Contacted the Competent Authority of the place of destination.

Contacted nearest diplomatic mission of the place of destination.

Contacted own diplomatic mission accredited to the place of destination.

Contacted the Permanent Bureau.

No action taken.

Other, please specify: N/A

Unknown.

If relevant, please explain any of the options above: Guidance was provided to support the recipient to access the file and verify it.

16 Has an e-Apostille received by your authorities ever been refused?

Unknown.

No.

Yes, please provide any further information, in particular the reasons why the e-Apostille was refused, if known: N/A

If relevant, please explain any of the options above: Not required in the UK

VI. Education and training

17 Has your State implemented training activities or issued any guidelines on the operation of the e-APP for officers in the Competent Authority(ies)?

No.

Yes, please specify: Provided training for staff on how to process e-Apostille applications, how to handle common enquiries from customers and basic troubleshooting actions.

18 Has your State implemented training activities or issued any guidelines on the acceptance of e-Apostilles and the operation of e-Registers for receiving authorities?

No.

Yes, please specify: Promotional leaflets, translated sample coversheets, access guidance.

If your State has issued guidelines or supporting documentation for receiving authorities, please indicate the format used, the type of information included, how the documents have been distributed, and how frequently they are issued, if known: Promotional leaflets - PDF format circulated by email to key domestic stakeholders. Translated sample coversheets - PDF format provided to key domestic stakeholders to be used as supplementary support. Access guidance - PDF format provided to key domestic stakeholders and also targeted receiving authorities who currently receive paper apostilles.

19 Is / Are your Competent Authority(ies) willing and able to meet with other Competent Authorities to discuss the implementation and operation of the e-APP and to exchange experiences?

Yes, please specify: We found this extremely useful during our own implementation of the e-APP and have met with several interested Competent Authorities to share our own experience. We are always happy to meet and support interested Competent Authorities.

No, please specify: N/A.

Unknown.

VII. Miscellaneous

20 Do you have any suggestions that could assist in the promotion, implementation, and / or operation of the e-APP?

No.

Yes – please specify: Hosting samples of e-Apostille files on the Apostille Convention section of the HCCH website that recipients can be signposted to. Further data sharing between Competent Authorities regarding acceptance/rejection, and what measures have been taken to increase uptake.

21 Are there any specific topics or practical issues related to the e-APP that your State would like have discussed at the 14th International Forum on the e-APP?

No.

Yes – please specify: Rejections - experiences from other Competent Authorities and how they have been overcome. We would also be extremely keen to hear from Competent Authorities who have successfully seen a substantial shift in the % of e-Apostilles being issued and how they achieved this.

22 Please confirm whether your responses to this questionnaire can be published on the HCCH website.

No.

Yes – please specify whether certain questions should not be published: All replies can be published.

VIII. Additional information & supporting documents

23 Please indicate any additional information or documentation to support your response. This may include resources for the general public or guidelines for Competent Authority staff, as well as any recent judicial decisions, legislative developments, books, articles, or published works relevant to the operation of the 1961 Apostille Convention.

Leaflet, Guidance and Sample Coversheets all attached separately.

Please attach any relevant documents when submitting the questionnaire to secretariat@hcch.net.

Thank you for taking the time to complete this questionnaire.
