Hague Convention of 25 October 1980 on the Civil Aspects of International Child Abduction

FOREWORD TO THE COUNTRY PROFILE

This Country Profile should be used by Contracting States¹ to assist with fulfilment of the obligations contained within Article 7 of the Hague Convention of 25 October 1980 on the Civil Aspects of International Child Abduction.² In particular, it is anticipated that the Country Profile will help Contracting States fulfil their obligations under Article 7(2) e) and 7(2) i) of the Convention, that is:

- To provide information of a general character on the law of their State in connection with the application of the Convention; and
- To keep other Central Authorities informed regarding the operation of the Convention in their State and to eliminate any obstacles to the Convention's application.

The Country Profile is intended to assist with the practical operation of the Convention. It is hoped that it will facilitate:

- a) information exchanges between Contracting States;
- b) knowledgeable service by Central Authorities under the 1980 Hague Child Abduction Convention;
- c) cost-effective translation of the information provided by Contracting States into English, French, Spanish, and other languages as required by Contracting States; and
- d) prompt updates of the information provided.

NEWLY ACCEDING STATES:

It should be noted that the Country Profile does not replace the "Standard questionnaire for newly acceding States" (available at < www.hcch.net > under "Child Abduction Section" then "Questionnaires and responses"). The Standard Questionnaire provides a means for newly acceding States to describe promptly, and in brief, the measures taken in their State to ensure compliance with their Convention obligations and to ensure the effective practical operation of the Convention in their State. It thereby assists States already Party to the Convention with their decision as to whether to accept an accession.

Newly acceding States are encouraged to complete this full Country Profile as soon as is practicable.

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Please mark the box which best represents the arrangements in your State:
 - Where the response requires either "Yes" or "No", please mark one box only.
 - For all other questions, it may be necessary to mark more than one box.
- Where applicable, please specify the relevant provision(s) of your domestic legislation and indicate how the legislation may be accessed, e.g., website, or provide a copy of the legislation.
- Please complete a separate profile for each territorial unit if there are significant differences in the substance and operation of the laws in each.
- Please note: the information contained in the Country Profile is of a general nature only. The purpose of the Country Profile is to assist with the practical operation of the Convention and not to provide a comprehensive picture of the legal system of each Contracting State. Please consider this when completing the Country Profile and when using the Country Profile of other Contracting States. Please contact the relevant Central Authority for clarification or specific advice.
- Contracting States are exclusively responsible for updating the information contained in their Country Profile. However, reminders for updates will be provided by the Permanent Bureau of the Hague Conference on Private International Law.

¹ Any reference to a Contracting State in this Country Profile is a reference to a Contracting State of the Hague Convention of 25 October 1980 on the Civil Aspects of International Child Abduction

² Hereinafter, "the 1980 Hague Child Abduction Convention", or simply "the Convention".

From Italy's Civil Code:

Article 342-bis

Protection Orders against Domestic Violence

When the conduct of a spouse or other cohabiting person is seriously prejudicial to the physical or moral integrity or the liberty of the other spouse or of another cohabiting person, the Judge - upon request of the party concerned -, may order to take one or more of the measures referred to in Article 342-ter.

Article 342-ter

Contents of Protection Orders

By its decision referred to in Article 342-bis, the Judge orders the spouse or cohabiting person who behaved prejudicially to cease its conduct and to leave the home; when appropriate, the Judge also takes stay-away provisions, ordering the domestic abuser not to approach to the places the applicant regularly attends, especially the latter's workplace, family home, the home of its relatives or of other acquaintances as well as the schools of the spouses' children, except when the abuser is requested to attend the same places for professional reasons.

In addition, the Judge may order, when appropriate: the intervention of local welfare offices or of a family mediation center as well as of the associations designed to support and host women, child or other victims of abuse and ill-treatment; the regular payment of a cheque in favour of the cohabiting persons who will have been deprived of adequate means of subsistence as a result of the restraining provisions referred to in the first paragraph, by fixing the relevant terms and manners and prescribing, when appropriate, that the amount be paid directly to the obligee by the obligor's employer, by deducting the sum from the abuser's salary.

By the same order, in cases referred to in the previous paragraphs, the Judge shall indicate the duration of the protection order, running from the date of the relevant enforcement. The duration shall not exceed one year and it can be extended, upon the party's request, exclusively on serious grounds and for the time necessary.

By the same order, the Judge shall indicate the relevant terms of enforcement. When difficulties or oppositions arise about the enforcement, the same Judge orders to take the most appropriate enforcement measures, including recourse to police forces and health officer.
